TURKS ASK FOR MORE TIME ON PEACE TREATY

Ismet Appeals to Near East Conference for Fortnight's Delay in Signing Peace

'CANNOT MEET TURKS' REQUEST BUT SHORT DELAY MAY BE GIVEN

Curzon Indicates Willingness to Wait Until Sunday Evening

LAUSANNE.—By The Associated Press.—Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation to the near east conference, asked the conference Wednesday for a delay of two weeks before the signature of peace and a delay of eight days before a meeting of the conference commission. The interval would be employed, he explained, in striving by every means to reach an agreement.

The Turks desired the delay of eight days so that they need not give a definite reply as to acceptance of the treaty until that time expired.

The session was suspended to allow the allies to reach an agreement on the reply to be made to Ismet.

On the resumption of the conference session Lord Curzon announced it would be impossible completely to satisfy the Turkish requirements as to time but personally he was ready to remain at Lausanne until Sunday evening.

Allies in Conference

A long consultation among the allied delegates in an endeavor to maintain a united front against the Turks preceded the opening of the near east conference Wednesday. It was said the British would probably be disposed to grant the Turks some days for reflection. All the allied delegations, including the Americans, agreed that the negotiations could not be long protracted.

Lord Curzon, in beginning his address in the session, said the primary object of the treaty was to bring to an end the terrible war which had desolated eastern Europe and large areas of Asia for more than eight years, and thus enable all the various armies, whether allied, Turkish or Greek, to go back to their homes. The treaty also was designed to enable the Turkish state, which was vanquished in the war with the allies but victorious over Greece, to resume its place as a constructed state and re-enter the comity of nations.

World Awaiting Results

Lord Curzon said everyone regretted that there had not been an agreement to every clause in the treaty, but time was pressing and Europe and indeed the whole world, was waiting, not for debates, but for results. Therefore it was felt to be in the public interest that the proceedings should be brought to a termination, as he hoped they might be, by common consent. Lord Curzon said the treaty was intended to build up relationships of amity, goodwill and friendly intercourse on equal terms between the Turkish state and the other powers of Europe.

"Peace, reconstruction and co-operation are the three objectives," he said. He added that the investigation was how far the conferees had succeeded in obtaining them in the document presented today. He was far from thinking their labors had been in vain, as a considerable amount of suspicion which had hung about ear-

ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY EXPECTED TONIGHT

WELL VICTIM WAS POISONED REPORTS U. W. PATHOLOGIST

Autopsy on Body of Willie Peters Reveals Traces of Arsenic Poisoning

TWO ARRESTS ARE EXPECTED WITHIN THE NEAR FUTURE

Investigation Nearly Completed by Authorities

WAUPUN Wis.—Willie J. Peters, the young farmer whose body was found in an abandoned mill on the James Whooley farm, two miles from this city, was poisoned and, while dying, was slugged over the head with a blunt instrument and rendered unconscious when his cries of agony threatened to arouse persons in the vicinity.

This is the belief of special investigators and county officials, based upon the preliminary report made by Dr. C. H. Bunting, state pathologist, who, on Monday, performed a second autopsy following the exhumation of the body from the grave in the little cemetery at Alto.

Arrests Draw Nearer

The investigation of the death of Peters has been practically completed and on Wednesday Coroner Joseph E. Murray and District Attorney James Murray will conduct a formal inquest, at which members of the Peters family, the John Van Buren family and neighbors of Peters will be called to testify. Arrests of two persons under suspicion are expected momentarily.

John Van Buren, Sr. grandfather of Hattie Peters, wife of the murdered man, who lived with Peters and his wife on the Van Buren farm; Mrs. Peters, John Van Buren, Jr. son of the aged grandfather of Mrs. Peters; Will Van Buren, another son, and John Koenig, son-in-law, are all expected to be called to attend the inquest.

Tell of Search

John Van Buren, Jr., Will Van Buren and Koenig were all members of the party which started a search for Peters shortly before the body was found in the well. They will be asked to tell of their search and of the call for help which was carried to them by John Van Buren, Sr.

James Whooley, owner of the farm opposite the Van Buren farm, upon whose property is located the abandoned "death well," is also expected to testify. Whooley was present when the searchers located the body and will tell of statements made before the body was located and of the events which led to its recovery.

Widow is Quizzed

A Pinkerton agent, working out of the Milwaukee office of the agency, together with Mr. Murray, Sheriff Schlaak and Coroner Murray, grilled Mrs. Peters for several hours at her home Monday night, it became known here on Tuesday. Her story, in detail, was the same as that told investigators and the sheriff who worked on the case during the week following Peters' death.

John Van Buren, Sr., was questioned Tuesday night. He told the same

HARTWELL, GORDON IN LEGAL CLASHES AT STEFFRUD TRIAL

Attorney for Defense Seeks to Have Liquor Case Evidence Suppressed in County Court

SEARCH, SEIZURE BY POLICE WITHOUT WRIT IS ASSAILED

Examination to be Continued in Afternoon

PUNCTUATED by frequent clashes between counsel, the examination of Helge Steffrud, Third street restaurant and soft drink parlor operator, charged with illegal possession of liquor, opened in county court, before Judge C. W. Hunt, Wednesday morning. At noon the case was adjourned until afternoon.

Fred H. Hartwell, attorney for Steffrud, opened the examination by asking the court for an order suppressing the evidence in the case and ordering its return to its owner. The request was followed by a general attack on the method of procedure in making searches of premises with or without search warrants and the arraignment of defendants before court commissioners who lack jurisdiction, both to hear cases or to issue search warrants.

Attacks Raids Without Writs

"When liquor cases under the Volstead act were first taken up by federal agents and search warrants were sought from Judge Landis," said Mr. Hartwell, "they were refused in some cases. Later, operations were carried on under state writs issued in this court. Now we have officers entering premises without search warrants, ransacking houses, ripping open suitcases, hunting for liquor or something. The last step was when search warrants were issued by a court commissioner, who had no right to issue the writ. We also have the case of a defendant arraigned before a court commissioner on liquor law violations. The court commissioner was without jurisdiction in the case. However, the defendant was immediately arraigned thereafter before a court that did have jurisdiction.

"In the Steffrud case, the police officers did not get any search warrant but went down in the night, broke into the garage where this liquor is alleged to have been and seized the stuff."

Then Mr. Hartwell cited decisions in cases in which raids had been made, liquor seized and defendants arrested and tried, in which no search warrants had been issued. The cases were quashed. Mr. Hartwell likened the method of the police in the Steffrud case to the days of old in England when raids were made by officers of the crown, following sessions of the star chamber, in which certain evidence sought by the crown would be taken, regardless of any writ except a so-called writ of assistance.

Garage Not on Saloon Premises

Mr. Hartwell submitted an affidavit by Steffrud in which it was stated that Steffrud's place of business was at 226 South Third street and that the garage where the liquor was seized is five lots north of the restaurant

AGITATION STARTED FOR SPEEDY ACTION ON SOLDIER RELIEF

Conference of Friends of Soldier Legislation Meet to Discuss Action

RESOLUTION CALLS FOR EARLY PASSAGE OF RELIEF MEASURES

Bonus Bill Not Among Matters Discussed, it is Said

WASHINGTON.—A Round Robin was started Tuesday night by republican members of the house favorable to soldier legislation in an effort to speed action at this session of congress on certain measures affecting the welfare of former service men. Friends of the legislation organized a conference behind closed doors in the house chamber, elected officers and proceeded to business. Resolutions were adopted insisting on the necessity of the passage of certain measures.

It was said more than forty signed the resolution and the conference voted to hold the resolutions for forty-eight hours in order that other friends of soldier legislation might have an opportunity to join in the movement.

Representative Johnson, republican, South Dakota, who has pending in the house several measures affecting the veterans, including a bonus bill, led the fight for action in behalf of the former soldiers, but the bonus bill, it was said, was not among those covered in the resolutions.

The conference is said to have demanded action on the Bursum bill designed to extend to permanently disabled volunteer officers of the World War army the same privileges for retirement for disability granted to the officers of the regular army, navy and marines and marine emergency officers. Captain C. Hamilton Cook, commander of the Disabled American Veterans, recently charged this bill was "held in committee" by the war department.

The Sweet bill, dealing with lapsed insurance also was under consideration.

MORATORIUM ON GOLD PAYMENT COMES TO END AT MIDNIGHT

Threaten More Drastic Measures if Opposition Continues

PARIS. — By the Associated Press. — France and Belgium will tighten their hold around the Ruhr valley Thursday and shut off shipments of coal and coke to unoccupied Germany. This decision will be announced to Germany Wednesday evening at Berlin by the French and Belgian ambassadors.

BRUSSELS. — By the Associated Press. — Belgium and France will present to the German government in Berlin at six o'clock Wednesday night an ultimatum demanding for the last time that Germany fulfill the reparations program and execute the treaty of Versailles, it was announced here.

LONDON.—By the Associated Press. Apparently basing their statements upon General Degoutte's warning to Germany, some of the English correspondents at Duesseldorf assert that the French almost immediately will send Berlin notification equivalent in spirit, if not in form, to an ultimatum demanding reversal of Wilhelmstrasse policy regarding the Ruhr.

Germany is to be told, the Post's Duesseldorf correspondent says, that France will not tolerate passive hostility supported and financed by the German government, and that if a satisfactory reply is not given drastic measures will be taken exceeding any already in operation.

Dispatches to the Telegraph say that this notification will probably be forwarded to Germany Wednesday evening. The correspondent adds that it is not known what form the threatened measures will take, but says that they are not likely to involve further occupation of territory.

Germany is Warned

DUESSELDORF.—By the Associated Press.—The reaction of the Germans, particularly in Berlin official circles, to General Degoutte's warning that the French and Belgians had come to the end of their patience and that the occupying forces were ready "to take whatever time and measures" were necessary to enforce their policy, was awaited here Wednesday as the allies strengthened their positions. Midnight will see the expiration of the two weeks moratorium recently granted Germany for the payment of her half billion gold marks reparation installment. Whether the French will make default the occasion for putting into effect the expected Ruhr customs barrier and the cessation of coal shipments eastward, had not been announced this morning.

It is reported that the Berlin government through the minister of

LOCATION OF NEW SCHOOL CAUSE OF MUCH DISCUSSION

Majority of Residents Want North Branch School Built on Present Site

MANY REASONS ADVANCED IN FAVOR OF PRESENT LOCATION

Nearer Center of Population in Future, it is Said

THE question of the location of the new north branch school is the topic of all-absorbing interest among residents of the north end of the north side these days. A canvass of the district in which the new school is to be built shows that the people of that neighborhood are almost, if not entirely, all in favor of building the new structure on the site of the old building which was destroyed by fire some time ago. The present site is at the corner of Wood and Hayes streets.

Reasons Advanced

There are many reasons given by the citizens of the district as to why the new school should not be built on George street, in the block north of Livingston, as to the city now proposes to do. The most important of these reasons seems to be that the present site is nearer to the center of the population of the district, or will be in the near future.

According to the statement of Professor Harry Spence, who is principal of the Franklin, Jefferson and north branch schools on the north side, the center of population at the time it was proposed to build the new school last spring was nearer to the George street site than to the present site, but that with the increased building in the north end of the city, and with the proposed new building which is soon to take place, it is very likely that the present location will serve the needs of the people best in the future.

New Building Area

There are a great many new houses in the north end, and there are many more to be built in the spring, according to residents of the district. The majority of the houses now standing are but temporary shacks, but gradually permanent dwellings are to be built. The site of the present north branch school is almost in the center of this new building area.

Another reason given by many for the building of the new school house on Wood and Hayes streets, instead of on George street, is that there is grave danger to the children from the traffic along George street, which at that point is a part of state trunk highway No. 11. The children who attend the north branch school are all small, and parents consider that it would be unsafe for them to be exposed to the dangers of the heavy traffic along the street.

Geographically, the present site is nearer to the center of the district that it serves than the George street location, and it is three blocks further removed from the Franklin school.

City's Stand

The reason set forth by the city for wishing to build on George street is that the city now owns all but two lots in one block in which the proposed building is to be done, and that the property holders who own the property near the other site have set an exorbitant price upon their holdings. Backers of the present location advise that pressure be brought to bear upon the property owners to bring their prices down to reasonable figures, pointing out that since the property now owned by the city on one of the sites will have to be sold no matter where the school is built, the George street lots will bring a larger return than those near Wood and Hayes streets.

BOYS RECOVERING AFTER WILD NIGHT RIDE TO HOSPITAL

STURGEON BAY, Wis. — Oliver Bejarinson and Charles Jensen, 19 year old Washington Island youths, are making splendid progress towards recovery, it was stated at a hospital here Wednesday morning, where they were operated on last Friday after being rushed over a perilous fifty mile expanse of ice and snow to the hospital. DETAILS TO BE SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS SOON

American Commission Will Begin Work at Once on Recommendations for Changes in Funding Law

HOPE FOR FINAL SETTLEMENT BEFORE CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Await Official Notification of British Decision

LONDON. — By the Associated Press.—Great Britain has decided to accept the American offer in regard to the funding of the British war debt to the United States.

The government's decision was reached at a cabinet meeting Wednesday afternoon. There was a full attendance of the ministers and apparently they entered the meeting with the decision already formed to follow the recommendation of the chancellor, as the session lasted only a few minutes.

The terms are three per cent for ten years and three and one-half per cent thereafter. No reservation was made regarding Great Britain's being allowed to pay the total sum after the ten year period.

Congress to Get Details

WASHINGTON.—By the Associated Press.—The British decision to accept the American debt funding suggestions was said Wednesday by Secretary Mellon to open the way for immediate drafting of recommendations to the president for changes in the funding law to legalize the terms suggested in the American proposition.

While the secretary explained that no public move would be made by the American commission pending receipt of official notification of the decision which must come through the British embassy, he explained that the American commission was in a position to begin at once an outline of details which the president could transmit to congress.

Hope for Speedy Settlement

The nature of the recommendations which the commission may make was not disclosed but indications were that a broadening of the commission's authority would be requested so that it could carry the negotiations to an early conclusion with a hope of final settlement before congress ends its session on March 4.

ROADS ORDERED TO RESUME SALE OF MILEAGE BOOKS

WASHINGTON.— Railroads were ordered Wednesday by the interstate commerce commission to resume the practice of selling interchangeable mileage books good for 2,500 miles of travel at reductions of 20 per cent from the regular passenger rates.

Sale of the books must begin March 15, the commission decided. A number of small railroads were excluded from the requirements of the order because of their financial inability to meet the reduction. Practically all of the class one roads, however, must establish the reductions.

ALSCHULER SOON TO RESIGN FROM U. S. COAL COMMISSION

IRISH STATESMAN PAYS TRIBUTE TO C. A. M'CARTHY

Sir Horace Plunkett is Speaker at Dedication of Memorial in Assembly Chamber

RECEIVES NEWS OF BOMBING OF HIS HOME IN IRELAND

Conditions "Pretty Bad" Comment on Property Destruction

MADISON, Wis.—Tribute was paid to the memory of Dr. Charles McCarthy former director and founder of the Wisconsin legislative reference library, Tuesday at the dedication of the McCarthy medallion placed in the assembly chamber of the Wisconsin state capital by the legislature, out of honor to the distinguished progressive leader.

"History tell us of but few men who have made the sacrifice McCarthy did," Sir Horace Plunkett Irish statesman and friend of Dr. McCarthy said in his address at the exercises. "He cared not for self, but to serve his fellowmen and to make this world a better place to live in.

"McCarthy had one fault," Sir Horace said "He was the friend of the whole human race and served all except himself. That was largely the cause of his death. His efforts to serve others and his service for the public good cost him his life."

Plunkett was asleep when news reached Madison that his home in Ireland had been blown up. Told of the event he said that he needed the rest and couldn't be disturbed.

"Members of the free state senate are apt to have their homes or themselves blown up without notice," he commented afterward, and said that he considered conditions in Ireland "pretty bad."

Justice Walter Owen of the state supreme court paid a stirring tribute to McCarthy in which he said that it was only fitting that his tablet should adorn the walls of the assembly chamber where he labored for the benefit of all mankind.

"The files of history tell us of few instances of men who with as little thought of self gave as much to humanity as Dr. McCarthy," Judge Owen said.

FOX RIVER COUNTY HAS STATE RECORD

FOND DU LAC—Fond du Lac county will be represented at Wisconsin's conference on farm products merchandising in Madison January 29 to February 3 by delegations of dairy farmers, cheese makers, creamery men and editors. They will be entitled to the record of being the first county in the state to go over the top in the campaign for funds to support the state's big dairy merchandising plan.

John M. Kelley, vice president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, has been the principal speaker in the Fond du Lac campaign and will attend the Madison conferences.

1923 HIGHWAY PROGRAM UP FOR DISCUSSION TONIGHT AT JOINT COMMITTEE SESSION

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The joint highway committee of the legislature meets Wednesday night to determine finally upon a program of highway legislation to be recommended to the present session for acceptance. When the committee recommendations are reported out, the state road building problem, second only in importance to taxation, will be before the legislature.

Members of the committee up to the present have been unable to agree upon essentials of a taxing plan to raise funds needed to continue any comprehensive highway construction program. They expect to be able to come to an agreement that will serve as the basis for recommendations.

Increase Trunk Roads

The committee has practically determined to increase the state trunk highway mileage from 7,500 miles to 10,000 miles, placing the responsibility for construction and maintenance of this portion of the state roads upon the state government.

For the state to finance a moderate program of highway work, the committee has agreed that $8,000,000 would be needed annually. It is upon the means to be proposed to raise this amount of money that committee members differ, and upon which agreement is sought.

The majority of the members are said to favor the graduated license fee on automobiles based upon weight and horsepower, as recommended by Governor Blaine. Estimated returns from such a proposal are set at between six and seven million dollars annually while $8,000,000 are needed. It is pointed out that some additional means of raising money will have to be provided if the intended program is to be realized.

May Tax Trucks

This has given rise to a suggestion that trucks and automobile busses be heavily taxed to make up the additional revenue needed. It is estimated that $1,000,000 could be raised annually through such legislation.

There is still support for a gasoline tax, which is to be proposed at the committee meeting. Assemblyman G. Nelson, Polk Co., chairman of the highway committee, favors this proposal, the enactment of which would raise $2,500,000 of revenue. He believes that if the state is to go ahead with highway construction on any comprehensive scale additional revenue over that provided by a weight and horsepower license fee will be needed.

State to Meet U. S. Aid

Together with other members of the committee, Assemblyman Nelson is of the ohinion that the state trunk highway system and the county trunk highway system will be almost completely divorced, with counties having practically absolute control of all matters concerning their roads, and with the state having authority over its roads.

It is planned that the federal aid of $2,600,000 annually should be met by the state, with the counties freed from this assessment. It is also planned that $785,000 of state aid should come out of the highway fund by direct appropriation with an additional $100,000 for bridge construction.

After agreement has been reached in committee, drafting of the general highway bill will be undertaken.

MILWAUKEEAN ASKS CREATION OF CITY MARKET BUREAUS

MADISON, Wis.—A bill permitting cities of the first class under a special charter to establish a department of markets was introduced in the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature Tuesday by Assemblyman George Gauer, Milwaukee.

The bill would empower the common councils to establish a department of markets and through this department to buy, transport and sell foodstuffs. This council would also be empowered to make appropriation for funds to carry out the provision of the act.

An amendment of the statute providing for boards of fire and police commissioners in cities of the first class under separate charter was asked in a bill introduced by Assemblyman P. J. Peterson, Milwaukee.

"MILITARISM" AT UNIVERSITY HIT BY WOMAN SPEAKER

Ada James in Talk to Progressive Association Asks Abolition of Military Training

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The abolition of the "Prussian system of military training" at the University of Wisconsin and of the state's militarism program was asked of the Wisconsin Women's Progressive association in an address by Miss Ada James, Richland Center, president, who opened the association's annual convention here.

Opposition to the primary election law was voiced by Miss James who declared that it was an "expensive and almost useless piece of election machinery." The association is not satisfied with the primary election law, she said. "It must be saved and to do this we must make it worth saving. Women must be recognized in the selection of candidates and help in the building of the platform."

She charged that the liquor interests delayed the enfranchisement of women for many years and added that the women received their strongest support from the progressives including the socialists.

Alluding to the male belief that women know little of practical politics she asserted that "no one knows better than we women that long after you men congratulated yourselves that you had freed the state from control of the railroads and insurance companies, the state was dominated by the liquor interests who masqueraded under the name of German American Alliance."

Speaking in opposition to militarism Miss James declared it useless to talk of economy when "Wisconsin pays in federal taxes between eighty and ninety million dollars and $8 out of every hundred dollars goes for war, past, present or future. This leaves but $12 to be used for all constructive work of the nation such as education, health, agriculture or highways.

"You may say that this is a federal problem and the most Wisconsin women can do is to vote for senators and congressmen who will oppose militarism. But what about militarism in our own state? You mothers teach your sons that war is wicked and that the nations that prepares for war invite war, as did Germany previous to 1914. You then send your sons to the state university where military training is compulsory and your son returns to you in a uniform to inform you we are bound to have war because the instructors say so and that his chances are better if he is trained for an officer.

"One of the first duties of Wisconsin Progressives is to see that this Prussian system is no longer tolerated in our university," she asserted.

"It must be said, to the everlasting shame of Wisconsin, that we are spending more than $500,000 in our state militarism. With this figure staring us in the face all talk on economy will be discounted by the women of the state.

"The first duty of this legislature is to slash these figures.

"The Wisconsin Women's Progressive association will work for the election of progressive men and women to office. We are asking the governor to appoint women to the positions they are capable of filling and we are insisting that the best women for the job shall be appointed regardless of whether she has a political pull or not.

"Although as an organization, we have not endorsed any bills, I believe we will go on record unanimously for the Severson law as it stands today. To maintain that we must be lenient with the poor man when he violates the law because we can not enforce the law against the rich man, is a fearful indictment."

Miss James declared that it would be better to have the entire educational system of the state placed under one state board of education, the board to consist of an equal number of men and women, selected geographically and representative of the various interests and callings of the people.

"There is a great deal our organization hopes to do to alleviate farm conditions and industrial conditions" she said and in conclusion declared. "We shall never take the position of 'my party, right or wrong,' but my party, she shall be right if courage, patience and sacrifice on our part can make her right."

PROTECTION FOR CITY IN UTILITY PURCHASE URGED BY TEASDALE

Would Give Municipality Right to Withdraw Within Month After Deal

MADISON, Wis.—A bill to protect municipalities in the purchase of utilities is being prepared by State Senator Howard Teasdale, Sparta, for introduction into the legislature.

"After a municipality has voted to purchase a utility and the value has been made," Mr. Teasdale said" it has no recourse but to go ahead to consummate the deal. My bill would change the law so that after the project had been approved by the voters and a valuation made, the locality would still have the right to withdraw from the deal within 30 days.

"It often happens that a public utility property is valued so high that its purchase may not be practicable for the city. Other conditions may arise and it is my belief that the municipalities should have right to call off the deal."

The Wisconsin railroad commission will set a physical valuation on the property before a public utility can can be purchased according to Mr. Teasdale's proposed measure.

"This proposition is also equitable to both sides," he said. "A fair price should be paid but no more. I know of an instance, however, when almost double the value of a utility was paid. If we had had the aid of the railroad commission this would not have occurred."

HOUSTON GIRL WEDS

FEAR GOD

LORD what wilt thou have me to do?—Acts 9: 6. It shall be well with them that fear God.—Ecclesiastes 8: 12.

King's Luxuries

SCIENTIFIC grave-robbers continue bringing loot from the tomb of Tut-ankh-Amen, king who ruled Egypt thousands of years ago. This loot—estimated to be worth as much as 40 million dollars—will go to museums, so the looters are called "archaeologists." They would be called grave-robbers, even ghouls, if old Tut-ankh-Amen had been buried recently. Time seems to make a lot of difference, black is black one year and white another.

After a person is dead a few thousand years, the atmosphere of respect and reverence vanishes. So it's considered proper to lug forth and display the mummies and treasure found in Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb. It must please the old gentleman's spirit at that, for he was forgotten and his tomb buried under drifted sands until recently discovered by excavators. His glory lives again by reason of his grave-robbery. His tomb had been robbed previously—about 3300 years ago—and resealed by cemetery officials. The robbers left behind a treasure of antiques—beautiful robes, gold-plated furniture, rare vases, etc.

All this was costly in its day—still is—but cost and genuine luxury are two separate things. Many a prospector during the Klondike rush would gladly have traded gold for flour, pound for pound. To a starving man, flour is worth a million times its weight in gold.

From Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb, the scientific looters bring the king's favorite chariot. Stripped of its gold and jewels, it is a plain two-wheeled cart such as the average modern boy would scoff at. This chariot didn't even have rubber wheels. It must have been decidedly uncomfortable, bumping over cobbled pavements or muddy ruts. It's a safe guess that Tut-ankh-Amen would have traded half his kingdom for one of the flivvers that Henry Ford has made available to rich and poor alike. The king's drinking goblet is found—carved from gorgeous alabaster. But that didn't make the liquor taste any better than if it had been served in a stone mug or cheap drinking glass.

The things we consider necessities today would have been dreamland luxuries for the ancient kings. Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb yields a gold candlestock. He had no convenient electric lights, no movies, no hot running water, no ice, no fast trains, no newspaper to keep him informed of far-off doings. Of course, maybe he enjoyed his life immensely, not knowing the difference between crude services performed by human slaves and the instantaneous services of electricity, steam and other modern scientific slaves.

Enjoyment is largely a mental attitude. And, if we have proper appreciation of our modern conveniences, we realize that each of us is a king, judged by ancient standards.

The Essence of Oil Problems

NOT the exhaustion of our supplies of gasoline and fuel oils, but the disappearance of the earth's resources in lubricants is the real kernel of the problem of oil, according to an interesting article in the current Atlantic Monthly. The writer's rather startling statement is that, while fuel for combustion engines may reasonably be expected to be produced from a number of sources, there is but one source—petroleum—for high speed lubricants. And without these, he asserts, this machine civilization would halt and disintegrate. The civilized world, in his view, moves on the infinitely thin film of oil which separates the metal-to-metal surfaces of its machinery, and without this film its machines would wear out faster than they could be built. No animal greases or vegetable oils, he says, have the qualities suitable to high speed machinery, and even could an animal or vegetable substance be perfected for the purpose the enormous quantities necessary would mean the dedication of such great portions of the earth's surface to their production that the problem of feeding the population, already serious, would become impossible.

His suggestion is the most rigid conservation of all existing supplies of petroleum, and inferentially their dedication as rapidly as progress of chemistry will permit to the production only of lubricants. To manufacture gasoline and other power fuels, he declares, ninety-five per cent of the lubricants in natural petroleum are lost and wasted. Power can be had from water-falls, from vegetable alcohol, etc. Lubricants once gone can never be replaced. Finally, he proposes some sort of international control over all petroleum supplies to stop the waste and confusion resulting from the present international scramble, verging even to war, for the oil regions of the world.

It is a far cry from our present cheap and easy production of a profusion of mineral oil products to a situation such as he presents. But if his statements are correct the situation is closer to us than any layman has any idea. Fifty years, it is estimated, at our present rate of consumption will bring to an end the present known resources of petroleum in the United States. There are other supplies, of course, but their exhaustion is also only a matter of time, as the doubling and redoubling rate of oil consumption leaps ahead with the progress of invention and manufacture.

It is another example of the economic pressure that even more surely than the moving of humanitarian instincts is driving the world to unity and co-operation. Civilization depends upon the utmost utilization of the material resources of the world. Hostile organization such as the world now has makes this difficult and in many ways impossible. The nations are beginning to see that they and their civilizations must either arrange to co-operate for the good of all, or perish. They may perish because of the sheer psychologic differences which make understanding between men and nations so hard to effect. But if they do not perish it seems that it will be because they can find a way around or through these barriers of race, religion and speech.

Famous

IF you read Dickens, you recall that Mr. Pickwick had his boots polished with Day & Martin blacking. Day & Martin was a real company, famous for generations. Now it is selling out—quitting business. Its managing director, with a troubled look in his eyes, explains: "We failed to keep up our advertising." It was advertising that "made" Day & Martin. But, like many other concerns, it thought that, once established, it no longer needed publicity. The public dies off and a new public is forever coming on the stage. This new public naturally has to be reached by ads, else it will not know of the advertiser. Even when it knows, it forgets quickly unless constantly reminded. Advertisers should keep in mind the fate of Day & Martin.

An Affair of Charity

BY ARTHUR W. PEACH

"Ted, you have more money than you know what to do with. Now I want to help you part with a little of it!" Margaret Ames looked with amused and tender eyes at the clean-cut face that was lifted to hers from a newspaper.

Emerson smiled at the dark-eyed girl in turn. "Another affair of charity? It seems to me that I have parted with quite a bit since you won me to that settlement work of yours. But I am game; I'll help—what is it."

Peggy Ames knew the secret of her power over him; that secret was one of the great and precious possessions of her life. Once had he loved her, and she had almost loved him. Though she had married another, something of the fragrance of his love for her shed its fragrance down the years and had kept their companionship sweet.

"I'll tell you. I want you to furnish funds enough to aid a young singer to complete her last year at the Conservatory!"

A quick shadow rose and darkened in his eyes, and she was surprised at the swift bitterness in his tone. "That is the last thing I care to do, Peggy. Please don't ask me to do it."

She looked at him with questioning eyes—there was some mystery behind his sudden and unusual stern answer.

"But it's a small thing, Ted; and I am anxious to help her. Please!"

"If I could only learn to refuse you," he said, the shadow still in his eyes, "but I cannot. So what is my contribution to be?"

He paid the succeeding installments, as he did that one, with good grace, but Peggy was constantly tantalized by his evident feeling that it was the last thing he wanted to do. She came to the conclusion that there was some mystery tucked away into his life which she as his first and only love, should know.

So one day she said frankly: "Ted, why were you so quick to say you didn't want to help in my little singer's case?"

The dark shadow rose into his serene eyes. "My reason, my dear, belongs to a past over which I have dropped a veil, and not even you can lift it," he answered quietly.

"Did it have to do with some girl?" she persisted. "I have always thought I was the only one!"

He laughed. "You are—but you weren't. Now, look here, Mischief, you have pumped my innermost secrets from me, but this one you won't!"

"Is—that—so?"

"He looked at her quickly, puzzled by the tone of her voice; then, evidently satisfied that she really knew nothing about that secret, he answered:

"That—is—so!"

A month later she announced that he was to escort her to the recital at which their little singer was to appear. He demurred, but she had her way.

"I have a lovely little plot all in mind, Ted. She is a beautiful thing, and—I noticed the other day that the gray frost is gathering at your temples. You really must settle down; and it would be fine if you could get interested in her!" she advised him.

He grinned a grin that was still boyish. "Marry me to a temperamental songbird? Peggy, where is your common sense? I don't want a lark in my home; they fit in better outside. Now, if you had married me—"

"What a life you would have led!" she parried.

Peggy guided him to the hall where the recital was to be held. Their seats were in a favorable location to see the stage, and she gossiped merrily by reason of the sheltered position. He listened with interest to the earlier numbers, and followed her chatter with his quiet regard, but she could see that on the whole he was bored.

"When does the object of our charity appear?" he queried finally, pointing to the name on the programmes, Priscilla Hope.

"There she is now!" she said, watching him closely.

He was suddenly tense, as a golden-haired girl came gracefully forward. She was beautiful, and the God who made her beautiful gave her a beautiful voice.

As she sang and replied to encore after encore, he seemed to grow rigid and quiet. When she had finished, returning to bow her appreciation of the applause given her, Peggy said to him:

"Now aren't you glad you spent some of your money in such an investment?"

He was silent for a moment. "I hardly know."

"Aren't you interested in her?"

He turned to her, his voice full of pain. "Oh Peggy, be merciful. What do you know? What have you been up to? You know her real name is not Priscilla Hope but Mary Lane—what else?"

"Hush, dear lad, I know a great deal. I know that you loved her once and that because she thought she was more interested in her music than in you and a home she refused you. I did not know all this at first, but I have learned it."

"Well, it is true," he said a bit sadly.

"I have learned something else—that she really does love you. I have managed it—oh so cleverly dear lad, and all you have to do is to go behind that door and she——"

"Peggy, are you crazy? Why, we have not spoken for——"

"Some precious things we keep in our hearts, and they grow and blossom, season after season, and I know—I know—"

"You are mistaken," he said firmly, his face grave with pain. "Suppose we go!"

He reached the end of the aisle in the darkening auditorium before he realized that she was not with him; then out of the shadows, summoned evidently by Peggy, came a golden figure that passed before him, and spoke in a breathless, half cry:

"Ted, I wanted to succeed—and I have—but I — I want you so much more. Don't you want me?"

Peggy, looking from the stage door, saw what made the tears of happiness gather in her eyes, even as she closed a little door in her own heart over whose threshold Ted never more would care to go.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

NONPRODUCERS
BY BERTON BRALEY

The socialists get all het up about the leisure class
Which doesn't do a lick of work yet rolls in unearned riches;
That little band of idle rich supported by the mass
Which has to toil for livelihood on farms, in shops and ditches;
But members of that leisure class are very few and far,
It really doesn't matter much what aims they are pursuing,
The actually wasteful bunch of non-producers are
The people working hard at things that are not worth the doing!

The washroom boys; the checkroom girls; the doormen in the stores;
The hatters making derby hats throughout this mighty nation;
The men who want to watch your car; the long, long-winded bores
Who make an after-dinner speech a wearisome oration;
The business men who fill their time with conferences vain,
Or write dull books about their lives—dull lives, though somewhat checkered;
The overdriven printer-folk with live-lihs to gain,
By printing congressmen's remarks —"extended in the Record."

These are a few of myriads who toil and scheme and sweat
At doing wholly useless things that really do not matter,
And yet they're working hard enough, they hustle and they fret,
They use a lot of energy and make a noisy clatter.
The world would be a better place if all this busy mob
Were switched to labor worth the while, to delving and to hewing, (Still you and I might suddenly be looking for a job,
If no one worked at anything that wasn't worth the doing).

FIFTY-FOUR OF COW TESTING SOCIETIES RID OF SCRUB SIRE

Holmen and Shelby Clubs of La Crosse County are Included in the List Published

MADISON, Wis.—When representatives of Wisconsin's 150 active cow testing associations hold an all day session here on Wednesday, officials of 54 of these organizations will report 100 per cent freedom from scrub sires.

The associations on the state's honor roll are: Allentown-Kohlsville, Alma-Cochrane, Amery, Barron, Beloit, Bruce, Byron, Cambridge, Cedarburg-Grafton, Cherokee-Marathon, Chili, Clinton, Columbia county, Wilton-Norwalk, Curtis-Green Grove, Dodgeville, Dunn county No. 1, Eau Claire No. 1; Edgar, Fennimore-Boscobel, Footville-Evansville, Fort Atkinson, Gilmanton, Greenwood, Hazel Green, Hillsboro, Holmen, Wrightstown-De Pere, Horicon, Ladoga, La Grange, Loyal, Luck-Milltown, Maiden Rock, Marshfield, Mequon-Mineral Point, Monroe, Mt. Hope-Lancaster, Oshkosh, Rewey, Rice Lake, Richfield, Rock county milking shorthorns, Shelby, Sparta, Stratford, Taylor-Hixton, Viroqua, Verona, Waukesha-Genesee, Whitehall, Whitewater No. 2 and Wilton-Holstein.

Officials of the College of Agriculture and Wisconsin's Dairymen's association regard the cow testing work as fundamental in the improvement of Wisconsin dairy herds. At the present time more than 3,500 herds containing more than 61,000 head are being tested regularly. More than 1,200 cows in these associations have produced 365 or more pounds of butter fat in one year.

The average production of all cows under such tests in the state is nearly 7,000 pounds of milk and over 265 pounds of butter fat. During the past year Clark county has headed the list of counties in the United States with ten active cow testing associations. Barron and Monroe counties each claim seven associations and Iowa and Walworth six.

LOCAL HOLSTEIN BREEDERS MAKE MORE GOOD MARKS

Engaas Bros. of Holmen, breeders of registered Holsteins, recently hung up three more official records for seven days. With their Bessie Homestead De Kol Lass No. 565393, a very fine individual who at three years and four months made 415 pounds milk containing 19.21 pounds of butter.

Bessie is one of their best producers not only for seven days but on yearly work as a two year old in the testing association. She made 398 pounds of fat which could be considered very good as it was made under ordinary care and conditions with twice a day milking.

Heilo Bessie Homestead No. 668182 another fine young cow, made 381 pounds of milk, making 18.21 pounds butter, at two years and two months.

Mary Canary De Kol Sigis 2nd, No. 647561, made 386.2 pounds of milk containing 14.767 pounds butter at two years and six months.

John Engaas, a brother of Engaas Bros., who is also a registered Holstein breeder and a farmer member of the testing association, also completed some fairly good seven day records with Carlotta Gerben De Vries De Kol No. 266213 with 566.1 pounds of milk, making 22.03 pounds of butter at eight years and nine months, and Gem Regtje Canary Oak No. 457358 with 446.9 pounds of milk and 20.275 pounds of butter at five years.

This is the first official work done by these breeders. They have gotten a very good start and with continued testing a good herd sire and proper feeding, a good herd can soon be built up.

WEST SALEM COWS SHIPPED TO SOUTH BY GEORGIA BUYER

I. W. Whitesell of Columbus, Ga., came to West Salem last week to secure a carload of good milkers to add to his herd in Georgia. Mr. Whitesell operates the city milk route there with the assistance of Mr. O. G. Clark. The other 28 head of grade Holsteins were secured and Wednesday were loaded into a big express car and shipped over the northwestern.

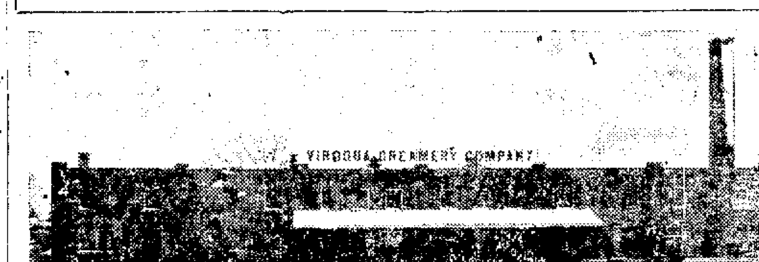

30,000 HEAD OF CATTLE SHIPPED OUT OF STATE DURING THE PAST YEAR

MADISON, Wis.—During the past year the various agencies engaged in extension activities in the state have assisted in the re-distribution of about 30,000 head of livestock to out of the state buyers. These animals have been valued at approximately $3,000,000. The largest sales have been made to buyers from the Dakotas, Montana, Oklahoma, Kansas, Idaho and Iowa. But nearly every state in the union as well as Central and South America have been represented by purchasers.

K. L. Hatch of the agriculture staff of the university reports that while the sales of stock outside of the state have been largely high grade, many pure breds have also been taken.

There are 1,300 lepers at large in the United States.

LIVESTOCK MEN OF MONROE COUNTY ARE MAKING BIG PLANS

Program for 1923 Being Arranged; Boys' and Girls' Clubs Important Features

Ways and means of maintaining substantially profitable prices for surplus live stock is the center of discussion at various live stock meetings held throughout the county.

During the last two weeks Guernsey and Holstein men have held their annual club meetings at Tomah, Cashton, Norwalk, Wilton and Sparta. At each meeting the matter of selling live stock by private treaty and public consignment sales was given the consideration, and the sentiment of these clubs will be crystallized at the meetings of the directors of the county breed associations this month.

The directors of the Monroe county Holstein Breeders' association met at the Court House last Saturday and decided upon a semi-annual consignment sale. A sales committee was appointed to meet with comittees of La Crosse and Sauk Counties, February 8th at Sparta to make plans for a three-day sale circuit each spring and fall.

The directors of the Monroe County Guernsey Breeders' Association will meet at the Court House Wednesday, February 7th, when a county consignment sale will also be discussed. Boys' and girls' club work will receive a great deal of the attention of the Breeders' Association this year.

February 27th is the date that has been set aside for a get-together of the directors of the Holstein Guernsey and Jersey Association to develop plans for club work. The eight cow testers of the county will probably be entertained at a dinner by the breeders on that date.

T. B. TEST ASSURED IN MONROE COUNTY SIGNERS NUMEROUS

More than the Required Sixty Percent of Signatures Already Turned in

With less than three-fourths of the petitions for an area T. B. test in, enough have already been returned to the office of County Agent Liddle to make the required 60 percent signatures of the live stock owners of the county.

When all of the petitions have been returned it is estimated that between 60 and 90 per cent of Monroe County's farmers will have signed up to have their cattle tested for tuberculosis. The is an unusually good showing and is a strong indication that our farmers are among the most progressive in the state.

In several other counties similar petitions have been out for more than a year and yet the required 60 per cent has not been signed up.

100 Percent

Tosch who have turned in 100 per cent petitions sinow we went to press last week are as follows:

John Honish, Oakdale; C. H. Christensen, Tomah; Bernard Mulrenin, Sparta; P. J. Hansen, Dennis Shea and William Huntzicker, Melvina; Harry Veith, Norwalk; Earl Heser, Tomah; O. O. Potter, Valley Junction; L. C. Moore, Elroy; F. W. Schmeckel, Shennington; Leo Kapellar, Norwalk; William Rehberg and Dan Lamb, Tomah; Conrad Brandau, Wilton; C. Jacobs, Sparta; Charles Pederson, Tunnel City; Harry Jewett, Sparta; James Milne, Elroy; James Dwyer, Elroy; Luther Buswell, Kendall; E. M. McCann, Wilton; John Sherk, Warrens; C. M. Thoreson, Elroy; Frances Duncan, Kendall; Charles Vanderschaaf, Sparta; Emil Protz, Tomah; Neil Hansen, Cataract; L. W. Graf, Sparta; Peter Jost, Cashton; John Kelly, Tomah; C. C. Christiansen, Valley Junction; Francis Ebert, Tomah; Jack Berry, Wilton.

80 Per Cent

Those who have turned in 80 per cent or more petitions are:

Earl Fox, Sparta; August Pergande, Tomah; W. Mullenberg, Norwalk; Elmer Damerow, Cataract; John Shea, Sparta; Earl Wilson, Tomah; Rex Eberdt, Warrens; John Thurow, Wilton; Casper Heilman, Norwalk; Harry Sweet, Tomah; Jess Gabower, Oakdale; Fred Noth, Tomah; John F. Reiber, Tomah; Ralph Pingle, Tomah; Forrest Marvin, Wilton; A. W. Zimmerman, Elroy; George Traimer, Camp Douglas; A. G. Willgrubs, Cashton; Louis Stein, Valley Junction; H. W. Whitehead, Rockland; V. G. Hilliker, Tomah; T. R. Jones, Melvina; Ben Klinkner, Melvina; Ernest Brandau and John Steinhoff, Wilton; Fred Walterman, Sparta; Tracy Humphrey, Sparta; Martin Benrud, Cashton; L. R. Hoard, Cataract; Earl Hall, Tunnel City; James O'Leary, Wilton.

GRAIN GROWERS OF COUNTY AT STATE SHOW WIN PLACES

Incomplete List Shows Many La Crosse County Farmers Among Winners

Ten ears Golden Glow Corn, Honorary Class—Jappi Wielinga, second; John Bendel, fourth.

Amateur Class—Paul E. Sheppler, fourth.

Ten ears Silver King Corn—Otto Wolf, first; Louis Pralle, third.

Single ear of Silver King—Otto Wolf, third.

Single ear Golden Glow Corn—Jappi Wielinga, fourth.

Fifty ears Silver King Corn—S. P. Markle, first; John Berdel, second; Ed. Peters, third; Otto Wolf, fifth.

Fifty ears Golden Glow Corn—Jappi Wielinga, third; Paul E. Sheppler, fourth; John Bendel, fifth; R. J. Boersma, sixth.

Ten ears White Flint—Louis Pralle, second.

Peck Scotch Peas—Paul E. Sheppler, second.

Quart San Soy Beans—Paul E. Sheppler, first.

Timothy Seed—Paul E. Sheppler, fourth.

Barley, Pedigreed—Ed. Peters, fifth.

Wheat—Harold Kleinsmith, fifth.

Oats, any variety—Ed. Peters, fourth.

Oats, any variety—Otto Wolf, first.

Ten ears Golden Glow Corn—Gasper Brothers, second.

The judges far from being through with their work of judging will try to send a complete list of the county's winners when they get through.

Competition is mighty keen. Our quality is very good but we have not enough exhibiting this year to put up the show we could.

The programs are mighty good. I wish that every La Crosse county farmer could be here to get the benefit of these splendid lectures.

REPORTS OF COW TESTING CLUBS

Holmen Report Shows Good Herd Averages for the Month of December.

For this month our herd averages and high cows have both taken quite a jump due largely to more fresh cows and proper feeding.

We find that our members who make a practice of fitting their cows before freshening are well repaid for their work and labor when the cow freshens.

A ration which we have found very suitable for this work consists of 100 pounds bran, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds corn and either 100 oil meal or 75 pounds cotton seed meal. The three high cows for this month were fed this ration for three weeks before freshening with very good results.

We have made some very good progress in T. B. eradication lately having gotten a total of 16 out of 26 herds accredited, 8 herds are under federal and state supervision, while two herds have never been tested.

The high herd for this month again goes to James Hange, Gr. Guernseys, with an average of 645 pounds milk, testing 5.16 per cent, making 33.24 pounds butterfat.

Second high herd goes to Engaas Bros., Reg. Holsteins, with an average of 32.76 pounds fat. Third average goes to K. O. Gaarder's Gr. Guernseys, with an average of 29.5 pounds fat.

COAST GUARDS BELIEVED LOST

SEATTLE, Wash.—On a basis of a report received by coast guard headquarters here, three men, Harry Hunsaker, Pearl O'Neall and F. Barker, who left Anacortes, Wash., December 29, in the launch 480-K have been given up as lost. The report stated that wreckage of the launch had been found on Lopez Island.

MAKE FARM HOMES MORE COMFORTABLE PLEADS REV. O'HARA

Oregon Minister Speaks at Wednesday Morning Meeting of State Farmers

MADISON, Wis.—More effort to make farm homes comfortable is needed said Rev. E. V. O'Hara, Eugene, Ore., speaking at a meeting Wednesday morning of agricultural leaders engaged in formulating a plan for the merchandising of Wisconsin's dairy products.

"There is a general absence of labor saving and sanitary devices in the average country home," Rev. O'Hara said, "Many a farmer has power machinery in his farm yard, but never thinks to use it to lighten the burdens of his wife. Many others have piped water for the convenience of their horses and cattle but have not counted the steps which their wives must take to the well with the water pail."

"It has been suggested by various rural church reports that the rural clergy might well become agricultural experts and assume leadership in the promotion of better farming. Certainly the rural pastor should have an intelligent interest in the work and daily lives of his people. He may at least be expected to read farm journals, to attend agricultural meetings, and to promote agricultural education among his parishioners. He should be in touch with the local organizations which subserve country life.

"No small part of the rural exodus to the city has been occasioned by the hope of farm women that they might thereby escape some of the drudgery and inconveniences and discomforts which they experienced in the farm home. Their visits to the city sister gave them a glimpse of homes equipped with a thousand conveniences of which their homes were devoid, and they went back to their farm homes to make mental comparisons."

GIRL LEADS CALF CLUB TO SUCCESS IN MANY EVENTS

Miss Ada Wyatt Captains Tomah Jersey Calf Club Through Unusually Successful Season

TOMAH, Wis.—With a girl for captain, the Tomah Jersey Calf club for 1922 has won ninety ribbons and $900 in money, a record accomplishment. Miss Ada Wyatt, daughter of Earnest E. Wyatt, veteran stockman, has run the demonstration teams with discretion and ability.

The team composed of Miss Wyatt, John Hill and Arthur Wallace showed from one to twenty-five calves at the following places: Milwaukee, Chippewa Falls, La Crosse, St. Paul, Madison, Marshfield, Sparta, Tomah and Viroqua. One silver cup was won at Madison for grand champion heifer of the dairy calf show, and John Hill won a free trip to the international stock show in December. The Tomah demonstration team won second place at the Milwaukee state fair, ten teams competing for honors. Later the team was invited to Madison to give their demonstration at Wisconsin university in connection with the extension department program in October. Here the young woman captain, Miss Wyatt, excited considerable favorable comment. No other calf club has ever been invited to demonstrate at the university under similar conditions.

All members of the Tomah Calf club attended the state fair—an unusual record. The boys of the club were in attendance at the great national dairy show held at St. Paul in October. All the work of the club was done only through the efforts of members, and not a dollar was solicited or given the club by outsiders. The Tomah Jersey Calf club now has a nice nest egg in its treasury, and is gloating over a special prize won for being the best calf club in Wisconsin, considering its development of calves, showing, demonstration, records of work and general club activities. The organization of an auxiliary pig club is among the future plans of this live-wire organization. Seven girls are on the club membership list.

HULCE OF WISCONSIN IS RECOMMENDED AS JUDGE

BRANDON, Vt.—R. S. Hulce of the animal husbandry staff of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture has been recommended by officials of the American Ayrshire Breeders association as one of the judges to make awards on the "red and white" at 1923 fairs and shows. The association's official list was made from recommendations of the exhibitors of Ayrshires at the state fairs and expositions of 1922.

TOMAH COW TESTING SHOWS HIGH AVERAGES

TOMAH—Of the 347 cows tested during the month of December in the Tomah Cow Testing Association, twenty-one of the number produced more than forty pounds of butterfat. The three highest herd averages were as follows: H. B. Sowle 880.3 pounds of milk or 35.6 pounds of butterfat, Burr Nelson 1068 lbs. of Milk or 35.1 lbs. butterfat. Fred Chapman 924 lbs. milk or 31.8 lbs. butterfat.

FARMERS IN CABINET

Somebody who has been going into the genealogy of the Harding cabinet has discovered that nearly all of the members of the President's official household are the sons of farmers or were themselves born on farms. Mr. Harding himself first saw the light of day on his ancestral farm in Morrow County, Ohio. He has recently acquired the property and is planning to live upon and work it when his presidential days are over.—From The Farm Journal.

CREAMERY REPORTS FOR YEAR OF 1922

VIROQUA REPORT

VIROQUA, Wis.—The annual meeting of the Viroqua Co-operative Creamery company was held in Viroqua on Thursday and was attended by hundreds of farmers and patrons throughout the county. It was an all-day affair celebrating the fact that the creamery for the first time had manufactured a million pounds of butter in one year. In the forenoon there were talks at the Temple theater on co-operation and in the afternoon a program was given by Manager R. C. Brown at the Temple theater. In the year 1922 there were 1,147,370 pounds of butter made. The number of pounds made in 1921 were 965,511. The average over-run in 1922 was 23.1, increased in 1922 to 24.13. One gratifying feature of the present report over that of 1921 was a reduction in the cost of manufacturing one hundred pounds of butter, of 22 cents, the cost in 1921 being 2.24 and in 1922 a cost of 2.02. There are at present seven hundred and fifty patrons. The creamery was established nineteen years ago and has been gradually gaining ever since. Mr. Chris Ellefson has been secretary of the creamery company for a period of sixteen years.

DAIRY PRODUCTS OF MONROE COUNTY ARE TO BE ADVERTISED

Plans are Under Way to Raise Money to Show Public Value of Dairy Products

Right in line with the numerous other things Monroe County farmers are doing, steps are being taken to put on a county-wide dairy products' advertising campaign next spring.

At each annual creamery meeting held so far, resolutions have been adopted whereby each creamery will contribute to the support of this campaign, one-hundrdth of one cent for each pound of butter produced during the past year. There were between six and seven million pounds of butter produced in the county last year. Assessing this amount of butter according to the provisions of the resolutions will make a total of $600 or $800. It is not expected that these resolutions will meet with any opposition at any of the creamery meetings because it is evident to our dairyman that the money will be well and wisely spent.

Dairy products have never been advertised to speak of and yet they are exceedingly important in the nation's diet. It is generally recognized that the efficiency of American people will be greatly increased when we use more milk, butter and cheese.

Dairy products are regarded by dieticians as cheap foods. Sixty cents a pound may seem like a high price for butter but compared with most other food products it is a cheap food.

Not enough dairy products are used by Monroe County children for their best health. The average daily consumption of milk per day in the city of Sparta is only about one-half of a pint.

It is proposed to bring to public attention the importance and value of dairy products with the money that the creameries are appropriating and thus increase the use of dairy products.

GOAT FARM NEAR MILWAUKEE IS ONE OF THE LARGEST

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Goats, generally cartooned and made the object of humorous speculation, are now commanding serious attention as a factor in Wisconsin's dairy industry. With the purchase of a herd of goats recently by several business men of Milwaukee the state can now claim one of the prize herds of the country.

This herd, which formerly was owned by Miss Irmagards Richards, of California, contains a number of prize goats among which is Barbara II with a production near the world's record.

The herd which numbers one hundred is located on a goat farm at Elm Grove, and was imported from California for the purpose of furnishing goat milk to the Milwaukee market. A very costly cyclone fence is used to confine the little animals whose milk is shipped to Milwaukee for retail sale. The product is sought for because goats are generally conceded to be free from tuberculosis making their milk sought after for children.

The owners of the farm intend to make it one of the show places of Wisconsin.

Heat thunder storms are caused by the rising and cooling of large masses of warm, moist air.

HOLSTEIN BULLS

We have eight serviceable Bulls 10 to 15 months old, that we would like to see heading Holstein herds in La Crosse County. They are big masculine fellows, nicely marked, sired by our great herd sires "Beauty Ormsby Mercedes" and "Sir Aaltje Pontiac Hengerveld" out of good A. R. O. Dams with records up to 28 pounds of butter in 7 days, and 120 pounds in 30 days. These Bulls are priced so any good farmer can buy them and on easy terms. Do you know what is holding the price down on La Crosse County Holsteins today? NOTHING only the size and poor quality from using inferior bulls.

We can help you out of this rut by using one of our good Bulls, whose Dams and Grandams weigh 1800 to 2200 pounds.

Some Information For Ladies Concerning What Their Escorts Should Wear to Do Them Credit

MARIAN HALE

L... es with pink feathers! Bro... with lavender!

That ... the International Clothing Designers' recommendation for men's Spring millinery.

Evidently the designers have taken seriously some of the slams at the monotony of masculine attire.

They're trying to start something.

To be sure, no New York tailor I could find was willing to go quite so far as to sanction the International Designers' extreme ideas in favor of the decorative, but I did uncover a little information concerning spring styles which indicates that men, or their garb, are going to be much more glowing and colorful this year than they were last season.

Going in for Contrast

In the first place, it is man's ideal no longer to be a symphony in just one tone.

With his blue business suit, he wears now a mauve shirt perhaps, and a tie the color of a ripe Damson plum. Ties, in fact, have gone bolshevik.

IT CONCERNS WOMEN

Now and again an authority on women's fashions arises to remark that it makes quite a bit of difference to these style devotees what men's clothes are like.

For her escort ought, in his attire, to set off a woman's appearance — to serve as a foil for her — to furnish the right sort of a contrast. No woman, the best judges say, can appear at her best on the arm of a man whose clothes don't look right.

It seems now as if men are going in for decorative sartorial effects. Will this drive woman to important modifications in her own fashions?

There's not the slightest regard shown for law or order. No stripe is too wide, no spot too large for the up to date necktie.

Colored shirts, and collar to match have put an end to the white shirt's vogue, almost completely. In L...don, where men's styles start, it's said white shirts and collars seldom are seen in the daytime, except with morning coats, as the English call the cutaway.

Last year London's Beau Brummels were mad about yellow. This year they swear by mauve.

Plenty of Color

The delicate pink, soft blue and mysterious lavender fabrics that are being converted into men's shirts are going to cause pangs of jealousy to many a woman.

The very snappy dresser who doesn't mind attracting a second glance, frequently wears a striped shirt, with a collar in solid color to match the stripe.

Men are stepping out — there's no denying it.

The single-breasted coat with the single-breasted vest — waistcoat as classy people call it — leads in sack suits.

There's no longer any vent at the back of the coat, or cute little flaps on the pockets.

Cuff Coming Back

But the cuff is coming back into its own at the bottom of the trousers.

Two buttons are supposed to be enough for the smart sack coat, though conventional tailors who have held out for four during ages past, say they see no reason for reducing the number.

Trousers are getting wider.

GOOD MANNERS

All appointments should be kept promptly.

Of course, apologies are in order in the event of tardiness, but this ought to be avoided by all possible means.

PRE-VIEW GIVEN MEMBERS OF ASSOCIATION

Exhibit Open For General Public Inspection on Thursday

Members of the Art Association are urged to take advantage of the pre-view, Wednesday evening, of the art exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce. The room will be given over to the association and members may be sure of an opportunity to study the pictures, unhampered by tables.

The exhibit will be open to the general public for the first time on Thursday evening from 7 to 9. Other times at which the exhibit may conveniently be seen are:

Friday—2 to 5 p. m.

Saturday—7 to 9 p. m.

The gallery will probably be open on Sunday from noon on through the day. Watch the Sunday paper for further announcements.

IN THE BALL ROOM

The bandanna handkerchief is seen not only in sport costumes, but has made its way into the evening garb as well. It is quite apt to appear about the neck of a fashionable Miss, in a metal cloth or rich fabric.

MRS. FRANK WNTER HOSTESS AT YEARLY BIRTHDAY PARTY

"WITH the same little gifts
From the same old crowd,
With wishes good and cheer:
Health, wealth and happiness,
May we all be here next year."

WITH this merry ditty as an introduction Mrs. A. E. Soderberg presented Mrs. Frank Winter with a basket filled with handsome gifts Monday night at her annual birthday celebration at her home, 1625 Madison street. Each year Mrs. Winter entertains this club of close friends and it is with pleasing anticipation that these ladies look forward to the event.

One large table and several small ones were laid, the larger one being prettily dressed with sweet peas and daffodils with smilax strewn on the handsome cluny cloth. Vases of spring flowers were scattered about the rooms, announcing the joyous springtime. The guests included Mesdames Frank Burgess, William Batchelder, F. A. Coston, George Bradish, J. A. L. Bradfield, A. C. Millington, George Schweizer, C. C. Rowlson, D. O. Coate, Frank Cook, R. S. Cowie, W. R. Montague, O. J. Oyen, W. D. Iden, Leonard Kleeber, W. H. Sanders, William Moss, A. E. Soderberg, R. H. Wesson. Visiting guests were Mrs. Herbst of Sparta, Mrs. Ball of Monroe and Mrs. Langdon and sons Bobbie and Dickey, of Burtrum, Minn.

HOW TO USE ROUGE AND LIPSTICK

In the improvement of every woman it is essential that she have a good color.

The power of suggestion is a very strong one in way of coloring.

I should like to cite the instance of a woman who has natural color, but having a poor day, puts on a little bit of powder but no rouge, goes out and meets a friend.

The friend, being accustomed to color in her face, exclaims, "My what is the matter with you?" She is indeed glad to report that nothing really is the matter with her, and passes along thinking it was not necessary for her friend to exclaim of the lack of color in her face.

A few minutes later she meets another friend who, instead of greeting her with a pleasant bidding, says as if shocked, 'Why, you do not look well!"

She laughs it off, replying, "Well, I have not been feeling so very well."

But the third person who meets her with a similar greeting will force her to go home and to bed. She will feel badly merely through the power of suggestion, and only for the want of a little coloring in her face.

How much better it would be for that woman on her colorless day to have applied a little bit of coloring according to her complexion?

Not too bright, but as she always has a natural coloring, she must simulate the real with a very delicate suggestion of rouge, which will make her eyes look brighter and improve her general appearance.

There is an art in applying rouge. First, it should be applied exactly as the color comes in the face. Pinch your face and see where the color comes in the cheeks—close to the nose, high toward the ears and down toward the neck. Rarely do you have coloring on the chin, so I do not advise the use of rouge there.

Study the color of your complexion, even though you have to experiment until you get the right shade, and then apply rouge lightly to simulate the natural always!

Do not apply rouge or a lipstick or flout a powder puff in public.

You know men would not insult a woman by performing any part of their toilet in her presence, so let us be considerate of their feelings and perform our toilet only in privacy.

A "smile contest" was held in New York recently and Florence McGuire, pictured here, won the prize.

Good looks, to be sure, were not named an essential to participation in the test. It was the beauty of the smile on which the judges were pledged to base their decision, not on the features which wore it. Nevertheless, it is easy to see what an advantage a pretty contender naturally began with.

HOBBLE SKIRT COMES HOBBLING BACK AGAIN

With women's styles, day by day, in every way, growing simpler and more sensible, who'd have thought there was a chance for the hobble skirt to stage a "comeback!"

And yet, here it is.

This new and charming spring model for street wear is hobbled to an extent that would have been fashionable in 1910.

If you want one, it's an easy matter to acquire it—just turn last year's skirt upside down and attach a blouse to it.

Of course women say they won't wear such ridiculous things—but watch them!

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

Whereas in China and Japan the bridegroom sends for his bride, the Zulu bride reverses the order and goes to get the bridegroom.

She doesn't appear at the wedding banquet, which consists mainly of roast ox, and such presents as she receives are of the useful kind—blankets and kitchen utensils, for instance.

However, the bride has a good deal to say about the arrangements, making her own bargain, for example, as to the number of cattle the bridegroom shall pay to her father for her.

LOG CABIN DESSERT

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH of Columbia University.

1 pint thin cream.
¾ cup sugar.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon gelatine.
¼ cup of cold water.
Whites of four eggs.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
¼ pound soft marshmallows.
1 cup candied or maraschino cherries.
Lady fingers.

Heat the cream and add sugar, salt and gelatine, which has been soaked in the cold water. Stir until sugar and gelatine are dissolved, then place over ice or in cold water, stirring until it begins to stiffen.

Beat whites of eggs until stiff. Add vanilla; marshmallows, cut into small pieces, and cherries, cut into quarters. Add this mixture to the gelatine and cream and thoroughly mix. Turn into an oblong mold, such as a small bread pan. Chill for several hours. Unmold onto the dish or platter to be sent to the table and over it place the lady fingers to look like a log cabin.

Marshmallows, held together with toothpicks, may be used to hold the roof so it may be pointed in center, on top of which place one marshmallow.

At the four corners of the platter place a mound of stiffly beaten cream and from each mound have a tiny flag flying.

COMMUNITY CHEST PLAN EXPLAINED BY JUDGE ROSENBERRY

Supreme Court Justice Addresses Noon Meeting of Chamber of Commerce Wednesday

TELLS DETAILS OF PLAN FOR ONE BIG CAMPAIGN IN CITY EACH YEAR

Plan Arouses Community Interest, Says the Judge

JUSTICE M. B. Rosenberry of the Wisconsin supreme court, addressed the members of the Chamber of Commerce at their regular luncheon meeting Wednesday on the subject of the Community Chest plan, explaining the details of the plan as it was used last year in Madison.

In telling of the plan, Judge Rosenberry stated that it was not the outgrowth of war activities, but a confederation of the social and administrative forces of the community. He explained that it was not in itself administrative, and that it did not supplant any existing activities.

Advantages

The advantages of the plan as outlined by the speaker were a saving in expense and energy by uniting all the various campaigns in one big drive; a saving of time for the same reason, and the further advantage that it gives each of the individual organizations represented an equal share in the right of a fresh appeal to the people. The rivalry and spirit of competition between organizations is done away with, all factions working together to raise the budget regardless of creed or nationality, he stated. By the single effort the paid staff of each organization is able to do the work for which it has been trained and is not concerned with the problem of raising money, in the opinion of the judge.

In a united effort such as carried on by the Madison Community Union, Judge Rosenberry pointed out that it is possible to reach a great many more people than it is usually possible to reach in the different individual drives.

The plan has its social advantages too, said the speaker, in that it coordinates the work of various activities, prevents duplication of charity and destroys good rivalry between the different agencies. In addition, he said, it arouses community interest instead of sectarian or group interest.

Some Disadvantages

On the other side, it has some disadvantages, most of which can be overcome with care and tact. From the standpoint of the social worker, the plan is said to develop into a harvest of financial scheme which would hinder, in a large measure, the success of social service work. Another disadvantage mentioned by the speaker is that with just one drive a year, the interest of the public is apt to lag. This can be prevented, he pointed out, by systematic advertising by the interested agencies the year round.

Plan of Organization

In Madison, the Community Union was organized with two representatives to the board of directors from each of the fourteen agencies entering the union. In addition to those there were three ex officio members, including a representative of the labor council, the secretary of the Commercial association and the mayor of the city, and members chosen from the general public, the number being one-fifth of the total of the other members on the board, or central council. The union employs a paid secretary who works all the year.

In choosing a name for the plan, Judge Rosenberry suggested that some name that expressed the idea that the community as a whole is interested, and that it is not a cold financial scheme, be chosen.

In Madison, according to the judge, the Community Union includes in its budget funds for the operation and maintenance of the various agencies only, and does not attempt to handle any capital accounts, such as Armenian or Russian relief.

OFFICIALS SCOUT MAGNUSON THEORY IN SCHNECK DEATH

RICHLAND CENTER, Wis.—John Magnuson's statement at Wisconsin Rapids that Otto Schneck, Wood county farmer, who was drowned here last September, was the victim of the same man who sent the bomb which caused the death of Mrs James R. Chapman, is given little credence by authorities here.

O. D. Black, district attorney, Tuesday night said that Schneck's death was thoroughly investigated at the time and he was convinced that the man had drowned while wading with his two sons although his body was found in only two feet of water.

By popular request, the players will give another presentation of the piece on Thursday, Feb. 1, 8 p. m., at Leo hall, corner of Thirteenth street and Park avenue.

WELL VICTIM WAS POISONED REPORTS U. S. PATHOLOGIST

story that he has told since Peters disappeared from the house, and maintained that he loved Peters as one of his own and that he had never had any difficulty with the young farmer who had rented his farm, and with whom he lived.

Will Tell of Light

The investigators, however, uncovered another witness who had been intimidated because she had given investigators certain information which will aid materially in solving the mystery. This is the second witness found who had been threatened, officials reported.

A bright light, which was seen in a certain farmhouse near the Whooley well on the night before Peters was found, will play an important part in the investigation as it progresses, it was hinted. Except for this statement and another that they had located witnesses who saw this light at midnight, the officials refused to disclose what part it played in the death of Peters.

Mrs. Peters, in her statement, taken by a stenographer, declared that she and her husband retired about nine o'clock on the night before the body was found. She said that she set the alarm clock for five o'clock. She heard nothing during the night, she said.

Husband on Floor

At five o'clock, she asserted, she was awakened by the clock and at the same time she heard the shuffle of feet. Peters, she asserted, was lying on the floor with his head propped against the side of the bed. He was fully dressed and had a pair of new overalls partly drawn on. After she had lighted the lamp in the sitting room she noticed the condition of her husband.

"What is the matter, Willie?" Mrs. Peters asked her husband, she told the officials.

"I feel as though I am going crazy," he answered," she told the officials.

Then, she said, she went to the kitchen brought in some kindling and prepared to start a fire. She declared that she was not dressed, but was in nightgown and was barefooted while in the kitchen, where she remained half an hour before Peters came into the kitchen from the bedroom. She asserted that she had not gone back to the bedroom to help her husband in his illness, believing that he just had a "spell" similar to one he had had more than a year ago and that she thought it would pass.

Poison Caused Death

Peters, she said, went to the barn with his lantern and when he did not return for breakfast shortly before seven o'clock she went in search of him. After doing the milking and feeding the stock she hastened to a neighbors and had them call Peters' relatives, at Brandon, telling them that "Willie Peters is gone, come over right away."

In the meantime, she said, her grandfather had started for the homes of Will and John Van Buren and John Koenig, sending them down to aid in the search. She declared that she had always lived happily with Peters and that she could account for no reason why he should have committed suicide or why he should have been murdered by any person.

While Dr. Bunting's final report on the poison tests has not been completed, it was said that the examination of the organs on Monday showed conclusively that Peters' death was caused by arsenic poisoning.

TURKS ASK FOR MORE TIME ON PEACE TREATY

ler meetings had been blown away by the breezes of Lausanne.

Child in Plea for Peace

Richard Washburn Child, chief American spokesman, made a strong appeal for peace before the near east conference. Turkey must be reasonable, he declared, if she was to have peace and keep co-operation she required. His address made a deep impression on the conference.

The United States was represented at Lausanne for three purposes he said:

"First, to protect American interests, idealistic or commercial, humane or financial, without discrimination.

"Second, to protect, whenever possible, humanitarian interests, regardless of nationality; and

"Third, to serve in all appropriate ways the cause of peace."

The Americans, he asserted, sought no personal favor, or privilege, they had declared for the open door in the near east.

"Our declarations and the spirit of assent given by the allied nations, in the words of the chief delegates of Great Britain and France," he added, "constitute an accord, creating, we hope, a new understanding and a new regime of international relationships in the near east."

The ambassador, in closing his remarks, said:

"The failure of world peace would be a world calamity, but for Turkey it would be an irreparable tragedy."

NORDMAN EXPLAINS MARKETING PROBLEM TO BADGER WOMEN

Revenue Matters Discussed by Judge Rosa at Session of Progressive Conference

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin Women's Progressive Association started consideration of legislative problems at its first annual convention here Tuesday. Marketing, militarism, changes in the form of government and education were before the delegates for consideration.

At the morning session, Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, spoke on the state's marketing problem. He explained to the women the importance of securing a law which permits cities to take entire charge of the distribution of milk, and to place regulations upon the marketing of dairy products.

Judge Charles D. Rosa, member of the state tax commission, discussed the state's revenue problems. He advocated repeal of the personal property tax off-set to state income tax, with larger income taxes and repeal of the secrecy clause. With Edward Nordman, he spoke on the proposed surtax on land values which is planned as a means to force idle lands into use.

The convention is planning to go on record as favorable to the initiative and referendum, it also plans to ask a reduction in expenditures for the state militia and for a law which will make military training optional instead of compulsory at the state University.

railways has forbidden the German personnel from carrying out any orders of the French and Belgians. The decree also forbade the workers to co-operate in the shipment of coal and timber out of Germany to either France or Belgium.

Berlin Cable Cut

The Cologne-Berlin main trunk line telephone and telegraph cable was again cut Wednesday in several places in the vicinity of Essen. That city is completely cut off from the rest of Germany.

A message from Coblenz announces that thirty-four civil officials were being expelled from the Rhineland under the orders issued Tuesday by the Rhineland high commission.

Coal Output Decreasing

Coal production in the Ruhr valley is rapidly decreasing. Only 10,461 coal cars were loaded Monday instead of 22,000, the normal number. The scarcity of empty cars is becoming acute. Only 7,000 were available Tuesday in the entire valley.

In consequence of these conditions coal is beginning to accumulate at the pit heads.

Stinnes Breaks Contracts

Would Minimize French Efforts

BERLIN.—An apparently inspired statement issued by a semi-official news agency says it is the task of the German people to reduce Premier Poincare's calculations to an absurdity. The statement concludes:

"Not until France realizes that Poincare's action in the Ruhr is not only unjust but also a mistake which must be made good, can the path to negotiations become free."

Deportations Increasing

AMSTERDAM.—Dispatches to the Exchange Telegraph company from Duesseldorf give details regarding the expulsions of German officials from the occupied zone, which could be remarked are daily becoming more numerous. At Essen, the president of the railway board and the police president were arrested and transported under a strong escort to an unknown place.

In many cases the deported men, it is declared, were given no opportunity to inform their relatives of the departure. The families of these men have four days in which to leave the occupied zone. The Socialist Miners League the strongest body among the workers, is urging its members to stand firm against the French officers.

TOWNS ASK IMPROVED ROADS

DODGE CENTER, Minn.—Business men of this city, Hayfield, Waltham and Brownsdale are preparing petitions to be submitted to C. W. Babcock, highway commissioner. The petitions will ask that the highway commission take action toward the repair of trunk highway No. 56 early in the spring.

SYMPATHY TO FRANCE

NEW YORK.—The executive committee of the general staff of the Military Order of the World War, adopted a resolution expressing sympathy with France in her effort to secure payment of reparations from Germany.

LEFT-HANDED FENCER WINS

PARIS.—Lucien Gaudin, a left-handed fencer and for many years champion of France, was awarded the 1922 one thousand franc prize by the Academy of Sports in recognition of his sportsmanship.

SUPREME COURT ADJOURNS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The supreme court adjourned until February 19.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us during our late bereavement, the death of our beloved daughter and sister. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Paulau and all who sent floral offerings.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN REBHEN, and Family.

250 MINERS CUT OFF BY FIRE DAMP IN SILESIAN MINE

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—Fire damp following an explosion has cut off 250 miners in the Heinitz mine at Benthen, Polish Silesia, says a Central News message. Several bodies have been recovered. There is little hope, the message adds, of saving any of the imprisoned miners.

HARTWELL, GORDON IN LEGAL CLASHES AT STEFFRUD TRIAL

and is not connected by any street or alley with Steffrud's place. The garage is controlled by Taggart and Harzor and is located in the rear of their food products plant.

District Attorney Gordon, in a statement to the court, said the liquor was found in an automobile owned by Steffrud and was prima facie evidence. He also quoted the section of the Severson law which gives officers of the law, or prohibition enforcement commissioners or their deputies the right to inspect soft drink parlors without a search warrant, at reasonable times.

Mr. Hartwell in answering Mr. Gordon again declared the garage had no connection with Steffrud's soft drink parlor and restaurant and that the police "never had the right to burglarize the premises."

Charles Hartzer testified that his company rented the garage to Steffrud and that he had been a tenant for about three months. He also said that the car in which the alcohol was found, 35 gallons of it in seven five-gallon tins, had flat tires and had not been used for six or eight weeks.

Derr Tells of Finding Liquor

Eugene Derr, city weighmaster, testified that he drove down to the alley on which the garage is located on the night of Jan. 17 to look over some horses he had in a barn there and see that they were all right for the night. He said he saw a large keg and some auto robes in the alley. He went to Third and Main streets and getting Policeman Tikal and Lueth, he returned to the alley. Policeman Tikal took the robes and the keg of liquor to headquarters in Derr's car, he said. Derr then returned to the alley and noticed the door of another garage was open. He couldn't find Policeman Lueth who was left there in the alley, so Derr made a second trip to the police station. There he says he saw Lueth and a farmer from south of town, Leo Auni. Lueth had picked up Auni in the alley, when he was observed trying to get into a garage. Lueth also found several beer cases in the alley.

The police then entered the garage where Steffrud's car was and towed it to headquarters, putting it in a nearby garage and placing the tins of alcohol in headquarters. Auni was released on Derr's word that he would be in court when the case was called.

Chemist Lampert of the state prohibition commissioner's office, was brought here from Madison by District Attorney Gordon to testify as to the alcohol in the keg and in the tins. One tin and the keg were brought into court and Lampert made hydrometer, burning and smelling tests. He testified that the moonshine contained 50 per cent alcohol by volume and that the alcohol in the tin was pure grain alcohol, 190 proof or 95 per cent of alcohol by volume.

Policeman Lueth also was a witness. His testimony covered practically the same ground as that of Derr's.

The case was adjourned until two o'clock in the afternoon.

WHO WOULDN'T SMILE AT THIS FELLOW'S TROUBLES?

PENSACOLA, Fla.—Pete Jenkins, sailor, was landed on the city dock at 4:15 p. m. He carried a bol of wet clothes and a grin. He staggered from side to side.

The police rushed him to the Municipal hospital, and at 9:42 p. m. he was able to stop staggering, but not grinning.

Pete, according to the police was attempting to swim ashore with a bottle of smugglers' whisky. When the water police started to close in on him, he drank the contents of the bottle, and had to be pulled out of the water.

YANKTON COUNCIL WAITS OPENING OF CITY'S SAFE

YANKTON, S. D.—When John W. Summers, for many years city clerk, suffered a stroke of paralysis, the city council was in a quandary for a time. Mr. Summers was the only man in the city hall having the combination to the safe in which the city records are kept. Finally the former city clerk, L. M. Yeatman, now 85 years old and retired from office many years, opened the safe.

LAWRENCE COLLEGE WILL ADOPT QUARTER SYSTEM

APPLETON, Wis.—Lawrence college, following a recent decision of its faculty, will next year change from the semester to the quarter system of school year division. Under these plans the school year will be divided into three quarters of twelve weeks each. The change is made to permit students to concentrate to greater degree on fewer subjects at one time.

MARRIAGE HELD LUXURY

NEW YORK.—"Marriage is an expensive luxury and men must pay for it.

This was the comment of Supreme Court Justice Ford when he ordered the alimony of Mrs. Nellie Clark, wife of Charles A. Clark, president of the Railway Employes' association, increased from $60 to $100 a month.

"This is positively inhuman," the court declared when informed that Mrs. Clark had been clothing her little girl by borrowing wearing apparel and had not had any new clothes for herself in two years.

WORKS OUT DRY FINE

OCONTO, Wis.—Andre Jarvey of Stiles will work out his jail sentence, imposed upon failure to pay a $200 liquor fine. His family is nearly destitute, the home having burned shortly after his arrest.

ASK TAX EXEMPTION FOR PROPERTY HELD BY AMERICAN LEGION

Bill Introduced in Senate Would Put Legion Posts in Class With the G. A. R.

MADISON, Wis.—Property owned by the American Legion posts in Wisconsin would be classed with that of G. A. R. posts and exempted from personal property taxation, under provision of a bill introduced into the State senate Wednesday. At present the regular property tax rates are applied to American Legion holdings.

Senator Max Heick, Racine, brought in a bill to limit the length of freight trains to one half mile. This bill, backed by the railroad brotherhoods, would require additional train crews.

Lower witness fees in courts of record and justice courts are asked by a bill brought in by Senator Timothy Burke, Green Bay. He proposes to cut the fee in courts of record from $2 to $1.50 a day and in justice courts from $2 to $1. Travelling expenses allowed witnesses would be reduced from eight cents a mile to four cents.

The judiciary committee of the senate introduced a bill enactment of which would prevent the revisor of statutes from introducing new matter into bills presented by him. Any changes in statutes found necessary by him could be recommended and presented in new bills.

Senator Barber introduced a bill providing protection for silver foxes. It would be illegal to kill a silver fox within ten miles of a fox farm under provisions of his measure.

Regulation of heating in buildings would be placed under the city council of cities, providing a bill introduced by Senator Burke became a law.

GOVERNOR BLAINE NONCOMMITTAL ON CONFERENCE DELAY

MADISON, Wis.—"I have nothing to give out," was the only reply that Governor J. J. Blaine would make to the report from Denver that the proposed conference of eight western governors called by him to consider progressive legislation, had been indefinitely postponed.

The Wisconsin governor said that he had a letter from Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado, but had not read it. He declared that he had done nothing more than send out his original letter suggesting a conference at Kansas City, February 2 and 3, if agreeable to the other executives.

ILLNESS DELAYED STAGING OF COMEDY

Owing to the illness of Stella Stamper, one of the leading characters in "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," the Bert Smith company was unable to put on that play at the Majestic the first half of the week as had been scheduled. "Pretty Polly" was substituted. Miss Stamper has now fully recovered and "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" will be played Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

STOCK MARKET CLOSE

The closing was steady. Further short covering and some buying for the long account caused a further hardening of prices in the late dealings. Brooklyn Union Gas was pushed up four points and General Electric three. Fisher Body took 3½ points to 186½, the lowest price of this year.

Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

OPPOSE BILLS FOR DEATH PENALTY IN STATE OF MICHIGAN

LANSING, Mich.—Women's and farmers' organizations in Michigan Wednesday were organizing their forces to bring pressure on the state legislature in an effort to prevent passage of the capital punishment measures introduced in that body Tuesday.

One measure, introduced in the house, would provide the death penalty for first degree murders on recommendation of a jury and provided the alleged slayers were not convicted on circumstantial evidence.

Another proposal, introduced in the senate, would put the capital punishment issue to a vote of the people. Proponents of this measure see a chance to settle the punishment issue for once and for all, it having been brought up repeatedly in state legislatures.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR "PISTOL TOTER" IS PROPOSED IN BILL

Licensing of Persons Who Carry or Sell Revolvers Provided in Measure

MADISON, Wis.—Pistol "toting" in Wisconsin would be made a precarious undertaking should a bill introduced Wednesday into the assembly of the Wisconsin legislature by Assemblyman J. H. Koch, Milwaukee, be enacted into law. The proposal is bristling with jail sentences for persons who handle revolvers.

It provides for the licensing of all owners of and dealers in pistols, with registration of their names with the secretary of state and police authorities.

Persons could buy or carry pistols only after receiving a permit from a Judge or police officer.

Any person convicted of a felony while armed, in addition to punishment for the crime committed by him, would have an additional five years added for carrying a gun, under provision of the bill. Should any persons carry a revolver without a permit he would be subject to imprisonment of not less than one nor more than five years.

The same penalty would be imposed upon any persons selling or transferring a pistol without a license to do so. Any persons selling, giving or lending a pistol to any minor would be subject to a three months sentence in the county jail.

Assemblyman Koch believes that his bill if enacted would go far toward the prevention of crime.

ARREST OF TWO SOLVES MYSTERY OF CAR ROBBERY

MARINETTE.—Joseph Lavine, arrested last Thursday at Messina, New York, and brought to Marinette to face a charge of robbing freight cars belonging to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, was found guilty Tuesday afternoon and sentenced to serve five years in the state's prison at Waupun by Judge W. B. Quinlan.

The arrest and conviction of Lavine and the arrest of Stanley Egley, proprietor of a saloon at Pembine, is believed by special railroad agents who have been investigating the alleged robberies to have solved the mystery surrounding the large number of box car robberies in the Marinette railway yards. Egley was bound over to circuit court with bonds fixed at $5,000.

GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE POSTPONED INDEFINITELY

DENVER COLO.—The conference at Kansas City, Mo., next Friday of Governors of eight western states, called by Governor Blaine of Wisconsin, to discuss progressive legislation, has been postponed indefinitely by the Wisconsin executive, it was announced Wednesday by Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado.

LA CROSSE BOYS POSE AS FEDERAL AGENTS IS CLAIM

Two Young Men Run Afoul of the Law as Result of Bluff Siding Episode

WINONA.—Alleged efforts to pose as federal prohibition agents resulted disastrously for two men giving their names as Walter T. Brophy, 22 years old, and Albert Gelf, 23 years old, both of La Crosse, when Brophy was sentenced in municipal court to serve 10 days in the Winona county jail for driving an automobile while intoxicated and Gelf was fined $10 for intoxication.

The pair were arrested by police late on the high wagon bridge after an episode at the soft drink establishment of Albert Gerson at Bluff Siding.

Failed to Get Drink

They entered the place, according to Arthur Gerson, son of the proprietor, and demanded a "drink."

"We haven't anything," Gerson said he told them.

"We're federal agents," Brophy is said to have declared. "If you don't come across with a drink we'll arrest you."

"If there's any arresting to be done we'll have you arrested for driving your automobile without a license," Gerson returned.

"We don't need a license. We've driven the car for two years without a license and we don't pay bridge tolls either," Brophy asserted, according to the police report.

"Where's your badge?" Vincent Rudnik, town constable, who was a witness of the conversation, asked.

Police Await Motorists

The pair failed to exhibit a badge and walked out of the place, later providing themselves with a "drink" from a bottle of moonshine liquor taken from their automobile Gerson said.

After running into a curb, they set out for Winona, Gerson said. He telephoned Winona police and the pair were arrested at the toll station. A bottle of liquor was taken from Brophy, police said.

The pair appeared in court today and pleaded guilty.

Brophy, after paying his companion's fine, was committed to the county jail. Gelf set out for La Crosse failing to stop at the Gerson place enroute, Mr. Gerson reported.

Public Debate

AGAINST TEACHERS' PENSIONS

Editor Tribune:

Dear Sir: I read there is to be legislation at Madison regarding the teachers' pension law, and hope for the repeal of that law. The present law that allowed a teachers' estate $29,000 when that teacher had paid into the fund only $25 is a pretty rotten law, and should be repealed before some more teachers die and their estates draw similar sums from the treasury. And when we think of it, why should the teacher receive a pension from the state any more than the hard worked farm hand who turns out at five a. m. and works hard until sundown as I did when working my way through the medical school at Michigan university.

This country is pensioning altogether too many people. Ever since the battle of Trafalgar, over a century ago, when Lord Nelson fell, the British nation has pensioned Nelson's relatives, except perhaps the child he had by Lady Hamilton, who in his dying moments he told those around him to take good care of, and those relatives have received about $15,000 yearly pension, because Nelson fell in battle.

We are tending that way too. The teachers of Wisconsin are better paid and have more ready money at the end of every year than does the average farmer with his investment in lands and cattle. When seven Wisconsin teachers died the annuity board found they had all paid into the teachers' pension fund less than $1000, and their estates received over $100,000 insurance. If we are going to pension teachers why not pension every librarian. Many of them are excellent teachers directing young minds aright. Pension the country clergy, many of whom receive meager salaries and have an influence for good. We Americans have gone wild on intellectual education forgetting there is a moral side to our make up the development of which is of more importance. Fifty years ago the teacher entering the school room first morning of the term, prayed, "O God, help me to guide these children in right paths." Today the little half grown girl expecting $120 a month in a country school, asks "How much do you pay?" And the city dry goods stores profit largely from her salary.

If you pension teachers then pension the farmer, the pick and shovel man, the miner without whose toil the nation dies. C. V. PORTER.

PINKEY IS GIVEN EVERY ROUND OF FIGHT WITH LOGAN

Mitchell Staggers His Opponent Repeatedly With Lefts and Rights to Chin

LOGAN'S BEST PUNCHES DELIVERED TO THE BODY

Never Appeared Dangerous to Pinkey; Right Eye Battered

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Pinkey Mitchell, Milwaukee, junior champion welterweight boxer Tuesday was given every round of a 10-round no-decision bout over Bud Logan, Omaha, by newspaper critics at the ring side. Mitchell staggered his opponent repeatedly with lefts and rights to chin and body but Logan was able to withstand the punishment from round to round. Logan's best punches were delivered to the body but at no time did he appear dangerous. The Omaha boy's right eye was badly battered in the ninth round and in the final session a shower of rights and lefts to head and body caused Logan's legs to wobble.

The championship belt was handed to the referee before the bout and at the conclusion was again returned to the champion.

While the bout was a no-decision affair a knockout or foul against the local boy would have lost him the emblem.

LEAD OF MITCHELL SIXES IS CUT DOWN PALETTES WIN TWO

Mrs. Dietz won the Kratchwil Candy company prize for the week with her score of 229.

The lead of the Mitchell Sixes in the women's city bowling league was cut down by the Palettes in games Tuesday, the latter winning two out of three.

The Robins took a long stride toward the top in unanimously defeating the Rosettes, while the S&H, winning three, climbed ahead of the Rosettes.

BASKET BALL QUIZ

Boundary Line

In putting the ball in play from out of bounds is it illegal for the player so doing to step on the boundary line?

The rule says he must not step across the boundary line, which could be interpreted that stepping on it is not a violation of the rule. However it is drawing the line of distinction a bit too fine, and players should make it a point to not even step on the line as it might be construed otherwise by the referee.

Ball in Air

If the ball is in the air for a try for goal when the timekeeper's whistle announces that time is up, does the goal count if made?

If the ball is in the air when the timeup signal is sounded, play shall continue until the ball has either entered or missed the basket.

Time-Out

Is there any time limit when time is taken out because of a substitution, or because of an injury?

No team shall take more than 30 seconds to make the ordinary substitution. In case of injury two minutes are allowed the team to readjust the lineup. In no case, however, shall "time-out" consume over two minutes.

SEALS COP LEAD IN ELKS' LEAGUE TUESDAY NIGHT

The Seals copped the lead in the Elks' pin standing Tuesday night by scooping the Tigers for three games, while the Kangaroos, former leaders, were losing two to the Gophers, way-down-the-list.

The Hippos snatched two from the Bear cats and curbed the race of the latter toward the top. The Bear Cats still remain in third place. The Bulls won three and headed the Hippos by winning three.

And the Giraffes, cellar champs, won the first game of their series with the Wolves.

Many prominent bowlers among the Elks were shooting crooked judging from scores turned in.

EDDIE HARGET, HIGH SCHOOL CAGE STAR, BACK AT PRACTICE

Was Temporarily Held from Daily Practices by Orders of Physician

Edmund Harget, high scorer for the local high school basketeers, was unable to make his appearance at practices during the week before the Eau Claire game, under doctor's orders. His absence from those practices was evident in that contest, as La Crosse did not display its customary accuracy in passing. Likewise, Harget did not come up to his standard at sinking the ball through the net.

Harget has not missed a practice since, however, and he again takes his place in the routine every afternoon. His team-mates have again found the missing link in the Eau Claire game, and practices are taking on a still more serious aspect in preparation for the University High game Friday night. The largest crowd of the season will witness this stellar forward in action against the strongest foe on the schedule.

One member of the first team has been lost by graduation this February. Lonnie Hinds has worn the Red and Black uniform for a year and a half. He took part in every game this season, and succeeded in tallying a number of points for the locals. Lonnie played a forward position on the team.

TALK OF SCRAPPING OLD LEAGUES AND FORMING NEW ONE

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Committees representing the Fox River valley and the Wisconsin State league of baseball clubs are to hold an important meeting Wednesday evening, Jan. 31, at the Hotel Sherman, Appleton, the aim being to discuss the prospects for scrapping the two rival organizations and organizing a brand new league for the season of 1923.

SAFFORD WINS HIS SECOND GAME HERE IN CUE TOURNEY

Joe Safford won his second game in the city cue tournament Monday night, defeating Ray Huebner, of the S&H, 75 to 45. On Tuesday night Appleman defeated Gibson, 75 to 69. The Wednesday schedule calls for Sheldon vs. Knebes.

BULLSEYES of BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS

THE TRICKIEST PLAY I EVER SAW

THE hidden-ball play is not regarded as sportsmanlike by many of our leading experts on baseball.

The hidden-ball play must be classed in the category of tricks. Therefore it is fitting and proper that I credit Babe Pinelli of Cincinnati with pulling the trickiest play—it would be more correct if I said plays—I ever saw on the ball field.

Some years ago the Carlisle Indians pulled the hidden-ball trick in football against Harvard. Receiving the kickoff, the Carlisle interference formed for the runner with the ball. Getting behind the interference, the runner who had received the kickoff stuck the ball under the back of the jersey worn by Dillon. An elastic band had been provided to retain the ball.

Then the Indians separated and all dropped their arms to their side as they raced down the field toward the Harvard goal. The Crimson players were unable to dope it out. Dillon ran the length of the field for a touchdown.

The next year the rules committee legislated against the hidden-ball. It no longer has a place in the gridiron sport.

Such action has several times been suggested relative to the hidden-ball trick in baseball, but no action has ever been taken to abolish it.

The play being legal, Pinelli, who holds the championship on pulling the hidden ball, must be given due credit for the clever manner in which he pulls it.

Pinelli, who played such a star game at third for Cincinnati last year, was with Detroit when I saw him pull the trickiest play I ever saw.

Washington was playing at Detroit. Sam Rice, one of the best base runners in the game, was on third. Washington needed his run.

I was umpiring bases. The Detroit infield held several conferences with the Tiger pitcher. In some way Pinelli got possession of the ball. I would never have known it had Pinelli not tipped me off as he went by. Rice took his usual big lead and fell an easy victim for Pinelli. The trick play saved the the game.

Boston played the Tigers the following day. Ball players don't like to be caught by the hidden-ball trick. The Red Sox "razzed" Pinelli from the bench for his "bush stuff" as they called it.

"Don't get chesty. I'll probably get one of you boys before the day is over," replied Pinelli.

Two innings later he tricked Stuffy McInnes on the hidden-ball play.

Never before have I seen two major league players the victims of the hidden-ball trick on successive days.

Pinelli tells me that he has pulled the hidden-ball trick from one to a dozen times every year since he has been in baseball.

Railway statistics show that in transporting high explosives, 400 persons are killed and injured annually.

Outdoor Sports Association Plans Gala Day At Pettibone For Sunday Nellie, Trained Giraffe, Performs

HEY! Skinnay—whatcha gona do Sunday afternoon

C'mon over ta Pettibone lagoon—the Outdoor Sports are going to put on a kind of a winter carnival all in one day—there's goin' to be races fer us kids, a dog derby an' neverything.

You bet, Skinnay wants to come and bring his daddy and mamma along for the La Crosse Outdoor Sports association is planning this one big day before the end of the skating season this year.

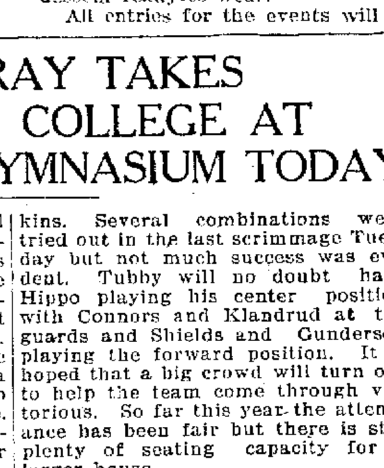

Not only will races and novelty events of all kinds be the order of participation and entertainment of the masses, but another "added attraction" has been secured for the day.

See Nellie

It is "Nellie, the trained giraffe, of Charity ball fame." Nellie, as you may or may not know, has become an outdoor sport. She wears the button, and everything, and is entitled to all the rights and benefits accruing us a member thereof.

She will dance to the music of a Ragadour orchestra, she will cut funny capers, she will be the center of attraction at Pettibone rink Sunday afternoon. You will want to see Nellie—Nellie of Charity ball fame. No matter if the water is high, or the weather cold, Nellie will be there. See her.

The first dog derby of the year will be staged at the lagoon on Sunday. Boys, get Spark Plug in trim for this event. The course will be laid out in the surrounding ground.

Prizes? Prizes?

Merchants who wish to donate prizes for the various events will not be barred from doing so. Your contribution will be gratefully received. If any are "donatically" inclined, just call E. G. Von Wald of the Von Wald-Bedessem ready-to-wear.

All entries for the events will be made at the counter in the warming house before noon on Sunday. Turn them in during the week. The events will begin promptly at 2 o'clock. The order of events will be published later.

Buttons will be sold at the rink. Hot dogs, to. Come prepared.

List of Events

Following are the events:

1. Centipede race: ½ mile.

MAROON AND GRAY TAKES ON CAMPION COLLEGE AT NORMAL GYMNASIUM TODAY

TONIGHT the Maroon and Gray will take on the strong Campion college team of Prairie du Chien. This will be the only game on the home floor this week as the squad will embark for Superior Friday where it plays its second conference game. The Campion team is rumored to be the best they have had there for a number of years and is coming up here to defeat the normal if possible. The Keelerites will be handicapped a bit due to the absence of their two star guards, Brown and Hawkins. Several combinations were tried out in the last scrimmage Tuesday but not much success was evident. Tubby will no doubt have Hippo playing his center position with Connors and Klandrud at the guards and Shields and Gunderson playing the forward position. It is hoped that a big crowd will turn out to help the team come through victorious. So far this year the attendance has been fair but there is still plenty of seating capacity for a larger house.

CAMPION HOPES TO WIN FROM NORMAL DEFEATS COLUMBIA

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis.—Campion's aggressiveness in the first half won for them a hard earned victory over Columbia College of Dubuque. Campion ran away with Columbia in the first half, the score being 14-2. In the second half however Columbia came back strong. Long shots by Blake and Fisher quickly filled the breach in the score. Their rally fell short by a narrow margin.

The game was fast, one of the fastest ever played on Campion's floor. Campion's team work excelled. Their play was faster. Martin was the big scoring power for Campion. O'Connell and Mattimee played well at guard. For Columbia Fisher and Blake starred.

Wednesday Campion Plays La Crosse Normal at La Crosse. The La Crosse team won from Columbia by a large margin in their game a week ago. From comparative scores therefore La Crosse should win. But Campion, in winning form for the last few weeks, intends to win and even up last year's defeat.

DADDY NEARLY WRESTS TITLE FROM HIS SON

CHICAGO.—A world's champion almost was defeated by his father when James Blouin, holder of the world's bowling title, and his father, Ed. Blouin, Tuesday night entered the individual competition in a city bowling tournament. The champion finished with a total of 674 while his father counted 668 just six pins short of tying his son.

HUGHES AND OFSTIE ARRIVE IN MADISON FOR JONES CONFAB

Both Under Consideration for Position to Succeed John Richards

MADISON, Wis.—Harry Hughes, coach at the Colorado Agricultural College, and "Hod" Ofstie, former coach at the Mississippi A. and M. arrived in Madison Wednesday for conference with Tom E. Jones, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin. Both are being considered as candidates for the coaching position here to replace John R. Richards, resigned.

Hughes is said to have turned out a number of championship teams in the Rocky Mountain conference. Ofstie, a former Wisconsin star of the 1912 conference championship team, has coached at Ripon College and at the University of Southern California as well as at Mississippi.

DRUGS PEDDLED TO STUDENTS SAYS BOY WHO TRIES SUICIDE

CHICAGO, Ill.—George E. P. Roth, 18-year-old high school senior, Wednesday was in a hospital here said by physicians to be near death from a bullet wound self-inflicted, because, he told his father, he had formed an unconquerable drug habit that had forced him from school and denied him the privilege of graduating with his class Thursday.

He told his father that he bought the drugs from a youth who stood outside the high school and peddled to high school girls and boys.

KEOGAN'S CAGERS BOOKED AGAINST UNIVERSITY HIGH

Locals to Encounter Meanwell Style of Play in Game Here on Friday

"COP" TAYLOR IS COACHING UNIVERSITY HIGH QUINTET

Red and Black Preparing for Badger System of Attack

COACH Keogan's cagers are booked to meet with Coach Meanwell's aggressive style of play next Friday night when they line up for battle with University High of Madison at Hixon gym.

The University High quintet is not only composed of identically the same members who set a fast pace at the state tournament last year, but also boasts a most efficient and capable coach in "Cop" Taylor, star forward on the University of Wisconsin aggregation last season.

"Cop" Taylor Coach

"Cop" received his basketball training under Coach Meanwell and now proceeds to communicate his knowledge of the game to his high school proteges. Being a direct decendant of the short passing game, "Cop" naturally coaches his team to use that system of attack. He goes still further in presenting a faster working machine than last year, due to the tactics being developed at the present time by Coach Meanwell, which combines the long and short pass system, to which the young high school coach is also drilling his team to adhere.

This new system of attack, as used by both coaches, is bringing basketball down to a science whereby the defensive team is forced to change, upon the spur of the moment, the formation and position of their defense. In general, a rapid shifting of defense is called for. An example of the Wisconsin mentor's skillful tactics in attack may be taken from the recent Wisconsin-Indiana game. Coach Meanwell's adversaries held his short passing team to a low count by presenting a formidable and clever defense which stopped the Wisconsin ball continually at mid-floor. With five minutes left to play, the Wisconsin team opened up a long passing game, which completely bewildered the enemy, and the tide of battle turned within that short period to favor Wisconsin. The Indiana team was unprepared to meet the change in attack on such short notice, and as a result, they took the count to add considerable fame to the Badger Coach.

Drill for Friday Game

The local squad is preparing to meet the Wisconsin method and has great hopes of giving the Capital City team a little surprise all for itself.

The Red and Black is about to engage in the most difficult game on their schedule. A victory this Friday will go a long way in determining prospects for La Crosse High; thus far, a member of the undefeated class.

JEANNETTE RANKIN CALLS ON WOMEN TO USE THE VOTE

Minority Group Can Wield Great Power Says Speaker at Madison Meeting

MADISON, Wis.—Legislation for women by women through the exercise of their right to vote was asked by Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, the first woman elected to the national congress, in an address before the Wisconsin Women's Progressive association at the opening of its annual convention here Tuesday night.

Women, though a minority group, have a power that can be used through an equitable system of proportional representation to bring needed changes in laws," Miss Rankin declared.

"I am interested in legislation for women and my mission is to teach women how to use the power of their vote," the former congresswoman said. "The vote is a great power in the hands of the women. Although they are a minority in numbers and have had but little experience in the field of practical politics, yet they are formulating programs and are learning, in the hard school of practical experience, how to obtain results.

"It is a new thing in American politics to have a large group of intelligent voters in the leisure class working for measures in the interest of humanity. Within the short time that this energy of women has been released, measurable results have been obtained. A maternity bill has become federal law. They have established the right to independent citizenship. A provision has been enacted by which the government may keep its eye on the big packers who control the food supply of the nation.

"Today all this energy is being directed toward securing a children's amendment to the federal constitution which will make it possible for congress to limit and protect the labor of young children.

"In all states intensive effort is being directed toward gaining wider opportunities for wage earning women so that they may partake in this democratic expression. Each woman and each group of women have something to contribute to the general fund of experience and knowledge.

"We expect the progressive women of Wisconsin to lead the way in perfecting our political machinery so that every vote may be cast and counted in such a way that the desires of the voter may be expressed. Wisconsin men have led the way in many political innovations, so we expect the Wisconsin women to contribute more. One step must be toward the recognition of the rights of minority groups so that in a representative form of government all groups should have a voice in proportion to the size of the group or proportional representation," Miss Rankin said in conclusion.

CALIFORNIA OFFERS MODEL TO BADGERS

MADISON—Farmers of Wisconsin are suffering because they do not have markets of their own."

That is the diagnosis made by Theodore Macklin, of the Wisconsin College if Agriculture, after making a careful examination of conditions in many sections of the state and contrasting them with the situation as he found it on the Pacific coast.

He found affairs much more satisfactory in selected areas on the Pacific coast where farmers have created their own markets by co-operative merchandising. In these regions, Macklin reports, unexcelled products are crated, packed and delivered to the trade, and the enthusiastic co-operation of the trade has been sought and obtained.

WISCONSIN LEADS ALL OTHER STATES IN THE GUERNSEYS

Nearly One-fourth of Guernsey Honors are Held by Badger Breeders

PETERBORO, N. H.—Wisconsin surpasses all states in the breeding of Guernsey cattle as indicated by the number of Advanced Register records held by the breeders of the Badger commonwealth.

Of the 8,955 Advanced Register records held by breeders in 37 states of the union, 2,017 were made in Wisconsin herds. The nearest competitor is New York, with but 1,165 records.

The Advanced Register of the American Guernsey Cattle club is a system of registry for Guernsey cattle which is based on merit in the production of butterfat. It was established shortly after invention of the butterfat test by Dr. S. M. Babcock of the Wisconsin experiment station staff. Its purpose is to encourage the breeding and rearing of Guernsey cattle of superior excellence.

Following is a list of some of the Wisconsin breeders who have won Advanced Register recognition:

La Crosse county—Victor Anderson, C. Christensen, C. D. Griswold, H. D. and H. W. Griswold, La Crosse County School of Agriculture, and Alfred L. Stubbs.

Vernon county—Mrs. J. D. Beck, A. J. Malin and Francis X. Malin.

NEW DISEASE IS DISCOVERED ON TOBACCO PLANTS

Wildfire, New Disease to this State, is Discovered; Growers Warned to Beware

MADISON, Wis.—A new tobacco disease to the state of Wisconsin occurred during the season of 1922 and James Johnson of the state college of agriculture and S. B. Fracker of the state department of agriculture are warning growers against the spread of the disease unless special efforts are made to check it.

The disease, known as wildfire, has been in the United States for about five years and has caused an aggregate loss of millions of dollars according to the reports of both departments.

"This disease has shown itself to be sufficiently serious in other tobacco districts to warrant Wisconsin growers using all possible measures to prevent its occurrence in their fields," Wisconsin farmers are warned.

A control campaign is under way in the infested districts. The first intimation that the disease had spread to Wisconsin came last June when it was found in a field in the town of Deerfield, Dane county. Infected plants were also discovered in the towns of Burke, Sun Prairie and Windsor with scattered infections in other areas in the southern Wisconsin tobacco belt.

Wildfire resembles ordinary rust in some respects. Wildfire is said, however, to be capable of doing a hundred fold more damage than ordinary rust.

Storms spread the disease, produce more or less wounding favoring infection and supply moisture, without which the bacteria are unable to enter the leaf, according to the departmental reports.

BILL TO AID CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYES SUBMITTED BY MARK

MADISON, Wis. A bill to aid civil service employes was introduced into the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature Wednesday by Assemblyman H. M. Mark, Hurley.

If passed, the bill would amend the statute so that civil service employes would be given at least 60 days notice before being suspended or discharged.

The bill would further provide that, in event it was necessary to reduce the number of employes due regard be taken to seniority rights.

MOVIES

"THE CHRISTIAN" A PHOTODRAMATIC MARVEL

In the photodramatic version of Sir Hall Caine's great novel, "The Christian," which comes to the Rivoli theatre today for four days, Maurice Tourneur has demonstrated in no uncertain way the wisdom of selecting him to direct the production.

It adds greatly to the interest in the picture to know that the exterior scenes all were taken by Mr. Tourneur in their natural settings in London, at Epsom Downs and on the Isle of Man, in close and friendly co-operation with Sir Hall Caine. Sir Hall, in fact, was most closely associated throughout the translation of his novel to the silver sheet. He advised in the preparation of the continuity, and at his own suggestion, took a large share in preparing the titles.

Although Mr. Tourneur has shown his genius for portraying mental conflict on the screen in his working out of the peculiar psychology of John Storm, played by Richard Dix, he has filled the picture with stirring action —the scenes at Epsom Downs on Derby Day, the mob scene in Trafalgar Square (for the making of which Mr. Tourneur by special permission of the British government turned that historic spot into a huge motion picture set from midnight until dawn of one day), a gorgeous banquet scene, and many clashes between the warring characters of the novel.

EARLE WILLIAMS AT STRAND

Earle Williams makes three daring leaps in "The Silver Car," which will be shown at the Strand theater tonight. In one of the early scenes he leaps from the rail of an ocean liner just as it leaves the Liverpool docks. He lands on the wharf uninjured.

Later the action calls for the star to leap from the bough of a tree on to the top of a moving limousine and on another occasion he is required to leap from a cliff into harbor, and swim to a Man o' War anchored close by.

A pretty love story is interwoven in the plot. Part of the action takes place in England and several historic locations are shown in the film.

RIVIERA TODAY

For D. W. Griffith to have done a mystery story in "One Exciting Night," a United Artists release at the Riviera theater all week, is one of the interesting surprises of the present season. So accustomed has the Griffith public become to his powerful dramas, that it is difficult to reconcile with his customary work this humorous, quick-twisting plot of mystery.

And as to how adaptable the mystery story is to the screen, Mr. Griffith has this to say:

"I think there will be a flood of mystery stories. The public wants them. That is because there is a great need of thrills to offset in some degree the placidity of life since the enormous thrills of the war. Further, accustomed to terrors during the war, the audience is not sensitive as it was before the war. A murder is only a piece of dramaturgy now, whereas before it was a horror and an offense."

CASINO TODAY

A decidedly novel way of removing gold from an Atlantic liner from which it was stolen under the very eyes of the ship's officers, is illustrated by Alice Brady, the star of "Missing Millions," a new Paramount picture which will come to the Casino theatre today.

Miss Brady has the role of Mary Dawson, a crook. Mary is greeted by six innocent looking flappers when the ship reaches port. The girls all wear bandoliers packed with gold bricks so, perhaps, you can guess how it is that they are able to walk off the ship right past the officers. The story abounds with action of a dramatic quality.

STRONG LOVE STORY IN UNIVERSAL DRAMA

Love in its most vivid form—that of a man for a woman of doubtful character—is analyzed in "The Golden Gallows," the Universal special attraction bringing Miss du Pont to the screen of the Majestic theatre next Thursday in a starring performance.

"The Golden Gallows" was written by Victoria Galland as a magazine story. It was filmed under the direction of Paul Scardon with Jack Mower, Edwin Stevens, Elinor Hancock, Barbara Tennant, Eve Southern, Douglas Gerrard and George B. Williams supporting the star.

The heroine of the story is a chorus queen whose friendship with a man of the clubs results in her inheritance of a fortune when he dies. This is a wholly satisfactory development until it begins to be the case of the whole reading world talking about her and speculating on just what kind of a friendship had existed between benefactor and beneficiary.

28 TO GRADUATE AT FARGO

AQUITTED MAN JAILED

MITCHELL, S. D.—Dale Barr of Mitchell, who was acquitted last winter of the murder of George Clinton of Wessington Springs after a sensational trial, is now in the county jail at Sioux City, Iowa, according to word received here, awaiting trial on the charge of receiving a stolen automobile.

38 FACE AUTO TAX ACTION

BRECKENRIDGE, Minn. — The names of 38 Wilkin county men have been filed by Secretary of State Mike Holm with Clerk of Court D. J. Jones of this place because they failed to pay 1922 automobile taxes. Filings of the list marks commencement of an action to force payment. The delinquents have 10 days to pay up before the sheriff proceeds to collect.

ARTISTS TO COMPETE

FARGO, N. D.—Shortly after the state contest at Valley City, March 31, the district contest for young artists will be conducted at Fargo, Mrs. J. A. Jardine, president of the North Dakota Federation of Music clubs, announced. North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana are included in the district.

RUSSIAN WORKERS VOTE RELIEF FOR BROTHERS IN RUHR

MOSCOW.—By The Associated Press.—The all-Russian council of Trades Unions has donated 100.000 gold rubles to the Ruhr workers. The money has been sent through the state bank with the request that it be handed to the German council of shop committees. (The Russian gold ruble is worth 51 cents.)

WOMAN MAY LOSE EYE

JASPER, Minn. — Mrs. Franz Frackman of this city may loose one of her eyes as the result of being accidentally shot with a bullet from an air rifle. Mrs. Frackman was engaged in hanging up her washing when boys playing with an air rifle used an iron clothes post as a target. A shot hit the post and glancing off struck Mrs. Frackman in the eye.

THE CHRISTIAN
ADAPTED FROM THE FAMOUS NOVEL AND PLAY by Sir HALL CAINE

The frenzied London mobs whom he sought to convert to religion turned against their leader with fury and violence at the weakness of his flesh. John Storm had to choose between devotion to religion and his passion for a famous stage beauty.
Which of us may pass judgment on a man enslaved by an overpowering love? At last the most famous and dramatic love story of all time comes to the screen in a blaze of power and beauty. Here is the truly Big Picture of the Year!

WOULD RAISE AUTO SPEED LIMIT TO 35 MILES AN HOUR

Bill Increasing Present Limit of Thirty Miles Offered by Hurley Man

EXEMPTION OF FURNITURE FROM TAX IS PROPOSED

Milwaukeean Has Bill to Regulate Advertising

MADISON, Wis. — A maximum speed limit on state highways of 35 miles an hour, in place of the present 30 mile an hour limit, would be established under terms of a bill introduced into the assembly Wednesday by H. M. Mark, Hurley.

Assemblyman J. C. Hanson, Deerfield, plans to exempt household furniture up to a value of $1,000 from taxation through provisions of a bill introduced into the lower house by him. The present statute makes no exemption on this personal property, which Mr. Hanson believes should be free from taxation unless valued at more than $1,000.

Regulation of advertising, with provision of a penalty for fraudulent advertising, was called for in a bill presented to the assembly today by Lawrence Timmerman, Milwaukee. Under terms of this measure, any advertising that is false, deceptive or misleading, would be classed as fraudulent and subject the author or the company he represents to prosecution for committing a misdemeanor.

Railroads are called upon to provide enclosed cabs for locomotives in a bill introduced by Assemblyman C. G. Price, Juneau county. The bill is presented as a railroad workers' proposition, and would require railroad companies to enclose all openings between the cab and tender, affording protection to the engineer and firemen.

Larger penalties for the sale of adulterated milk are asked in a bill offered by Assemblyman Sixtus Lindahl, Superior. He would punish an offenders with a fine of $50 for the first offense, with possibility of a 60 day jail sentence and $200 or six months in jail for the second offense. The present statute provides a $25 fine.

SALVATION ARMY EVANGELISTS COMING

Colonel Jack Addie, traveling evangelist for the Salvation Army central territory, comprising the fifteen central states, will be in La Crosse February 7th to 12th to conduct an old fashion revival.

The colonel has spent forty years' unbroken service in the Army, serving in Canada and the United States during pioneer days. The colonel, although a man well up in years, is still quite active and preaches the old-time gospel. The colonel will have Ensign J. W. Westbrook to assist him during his campaign. Ensign Westbrook is a Texan and sings southern melodies.

These meetings will be quite unique in every way. The colonel is known as the Salvation Army poet, having composed numberless songs.

Col. Addie will also deliver a public lecture entitled "Modern Miracles," at the Chamber of Commerce Sunday, February 11 at three o'clock. Good music and singing by local talent.

All meetings, including lecture, are open to the public.

HUGE BRIDGE COMPLETED

SAN FRANCISCO. The single truss bridge spanning the Tanana river, Alaska, said to be the second largest structure of its kind on American territory, was completed last Thursday. The bridge is 700 feet long. The only larger single truss bridge is the McKinley bridge across the Mississippi river at St. Louis.

ROD, GUN CLUB TO DISCUSS PROPOSED SEASONS THURSDAY

Meeting to be Held in Courthouse at 8 P. M.; to Talk Over Suggested Changes in Law

The La Crosse Rod and Gun club will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in Judge Brindley's court room in the courthouse to discuss proprosed changes in the game laws that would provide closed seasons. Secretary Schurz announced Wednesday.

A closed season for prairie chickens and grouse in a number of Wisconsin counties, with a five day season for these birds in other counties, is provided in a bill introduced into the legislature by Assemblyman W. F. Miller of West Salem.

He would close the season in Grant, Lafayette, Green, Rock, Walworth, Racine, Kenosha, Milwaukee, Waukesha, Jefferson, Dane, Iowa, Crawford, Richland, Sauk, Washington, Ozaukee, Vernon, La Crosse, Monroe, Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Winnebago, Calumet, Portage, Waupaca, Oneida, Lincoln, Polk, Barron and Dunn counties, and leave it open for five days in the other counties. A limit of five birds each day during the five day season from September 20 to 24 is set by the bill.

A five day season for Hungarian partridge in Jefferson and Waukesha county, with a bag limit of five is set by the bill. This season would be September 20 to 24.

STOMACH UPSET?
Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

CREAM CLEARS A STUFFED-UP HEAD
Instantly Opens Every Air Passage—Clears Throat

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed because of nasty catarrh of a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membranes and you get instant relief.

Try this. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up; your head is clear; no more hawking or snuffling. Count fifty. All the stuffiness, dryness, struggling for breath is gone. You feel fine.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN
Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

BREAK CHEST COLDS WITH RED PEPPER

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."

"CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS
When Sick, Bilious, Headachy, Constipated, for Sour Stomach, Gases, Bad Breath, Colds

Your bowels may seem regular—move every day—yet your thirty feet of bowels may be lined with poisonous waste which is being sucked into your blood keeping you half sick, nervous, despondent and upset. Whether you have headache, colds, sour stomach, indigestion, or heart palpitation, it is usually from bowel poison.

Hurry! One or two Cascarets tonight will clean your bowels right. By morning all the constipation poison and sour bile will move out—thoroughly! Cascarets will not sicken you—they physic fully, but never gripe or inconvenience.

Children love Cascarets too. 10 cent boxes, also 25 and 50 cent sizes. Any drug store.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Opening prices in Wednesday's stock market were irregular. California Petroleum opened 1¼ higher on overnight announcement of the declaration of an initial quarterly dividend of $1.75. Selling of steel shares reflected the speculative community's disappointment over the earnings statement of the United States Steel corporation for the last quarter of 1922, United States Steel common and Crucible each dropping one point.

The early demand for railroad shares centered in Delaware and Hudson, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Chicago and Northeastern and Illinois Central, all up ½ to ¾ but Reading second preferred dropping 1½ and St. Paul and New Haven yielded fractionally. Steel and Tube and preferred was pushed up 2⅜ points, Brooklyn Union Gas 2⅜, Interborough Rapid Transit 1⅜ and Pan American B one. Equipments were supplied rather freely, Baldwin and Pressed Steel Car each dropping a point and American Locomotive 1½. Coppers also were heavy, American Smelting dropping a point and Utah ⅝. Columbia Gas declined 1¾. Foreign exchange was weak, French franc dropping to 5.85 cents or only 15 points above the extreme low record of 5.70 established in November, 1920. German marks were quoted at 20 cents a million or 500 for a cent.

Renewed weakness of the foreign exchanges which served to increase the uncertainty over the immediate speculative outlook had a depressing effect on prices. Further pressure against the steel shares carried United States Steel common down 1¼ points to 104⅜. There were a few isolated strong spots but buying of these shares failed to halt the liquidation and short selling elsewhere. Railroad issues which had been strong early in the week succumbed with the rest, but with the exception of "Soo" which dropped 1½ points and Union Pacific, which dropped one, the losses were limited to fractions. However, Illinois Central, Central and Atlantic Coast Line advanced one each. Fisher Body broke 5 points to 165 and Royal Dutch which has been under pressure for several days dropped 2½. California Petroleum, one of the few strong spots, advanced two points. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

Prices snapped back on the announcement of the British acceptance of the American debt terms. Several of the active shares rallied a point rise from their low prices of the morning, while Coca Cola, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, Beechnut Packing, United States Alcohol, Westinghouse Electric, Texas Coal and Oil, Kresge and Willys Overland preferred sold one to two points above Tuesday's closing. Buying slackened when the call money rate was marked up to 5 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Wheat turned downward in price Wednesday during the early dealings, with lower quotations at Liverpool the chief bearish factor. A little rally after the opening was ascribed to some buying on foreign account but the market sagged again when this buying ceased. Favorable reports as to the condition of the domestic winter crop tended to handicap the bulls. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower, with May $1.16⅝ to $1.17 and July $1.11⅛ to $1.11⅞, were followed by a partial reaction and then by fresh downturns.

Subsequently, reports that Argentine offerings to Europe were increasing had a temporary further depressing effect on values here and so, too, did apparent absence of export business from the United States. The close was unsettled at ⅛ to ¼c net decline, with May $1.16⅞ to $1.17 and July $1.11⅞ to $1.12.

Corn and oats were relatively firm owing more or less to scantiness of receipts here. After opening a shade to ⅛ off, May 72⅛ to 72⅜c, the corn market scored slight general gains.

Selling in sympathy with wheat led to declines later, but only of a transient sort. The close was unsettled,at the same as Tuesday's finish to ⅛c advance, with May 72⅛ to 72¼c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c higher, May 44⅛ to 44¼c, and later hardened a bit farther.

Provisions were sustained by an upturn in the value of hogs.

MOONSHINE BELT IN MILWAUKEE IS SCENE OF HOT GUN FIGHTS

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Birdshot and automatic bullets flew thick and fast at Eighty-fifth and Highland avenues early Wednesday in the Wauwatosa-West Allis Moonshine belt recently complained of by Dr. Myron W. Snell, surgeon in charge of Soldiers' Home hospital. Two men were shot in what police said was a battle between moonshiners and high jackers, and a third man was wounded in a later battle between police and winners of the first encounter.

Fred Radtke, 470 Greenfield avenue, Wauwatosa, and Charles Oglio, Eighty-fifth and Highland avenues, West Allis, are in the county hospital with wounds; Glen Winship, 141 East Chestnut street, Wauwatosa also wounded, and Ewald Radtke, 322 Moan avenue, Wauwatosa, are under arrest at West Allis police station; and Ernest Sandrone, Eighty-fifth and Highland avenues, may be arrested later.

MANN ACT CHARGE LODGED AGAINST ENGLISH ACTOR

NEW YORK.—James Dale, an English actor playing a leading role in a New York theater, was served with a warrant Wednesday to show cause why he should not be deported on the charge of having brought a young woman to this country for immoral purposes.

Dale is charged with having "imported or attempted to import" Ada Gladys Powell, 17 years old. The England about two months ago. The girl was prevented from landing when immigration officials received a cablegram from her mother.

The young woman, when questioned by immigration officers, is said to have admitted that Dale had paid her passage to this country and had stated his intention of marrying her as soon as he succeeded in getting a divorce from his wife. She was returned to England on request of her mother.

BUY RIGHT NOW

It is the most natural thing in the world to wait until Spring before buying a home. Now I want to say that you are just wasting good money to wait until that time. Property is fairly low in price just now and in Spring the average party having a home for sale will raise the price as the demand increases at that time of the year. Also you have the first pick of the good investments on homes. It is my aim to sell you the kind of home you need at the location you desire and at the price you wish to pay. I have some very attractive bargains that I am sure will please you.

Fine six-room dwelling with basement and heat, hardwood floors, gas and lights. House in fine condition. Price only $3,000.

Fine house at 2027 Liberty street. This is a fine home and location is ideal, price is low, and we will sell on time with small payment down. Price $2,000.

Fine one-acre garden plot with good roomy house, just at the west end of Black river bridge on French Island. Lots of room for garden, also a fine proposition for chicken fancier. Two fine modern chicken houses, and good barn. Cheap.

Good size home, all modern but heat, at 1220 Avon street. A good house in a good location at a medium price of $3,500.

A wonderful cottage at 1903 Loomis street. Location is good, cottage is in best of condition and a bargain at $2,500.

A bungalow and two full lots in Onalaska on one of the best streets for $4,000.

An all modern home in good location in Onalaska. A real buy at $4,500.

House and lot at 1503 Prospect street. A fine home for $1,900.

House and lot, 2142 Kane street, for $3,150.

80-acre farm, three-quarters of a mile northeast of Onalaska; four-room house, barn for ten head of cattle, silo, corn crib, windmill, chicken coop, and machinery; a real buy for $4,500.
